AIRPLANE DOWN IN OCEAN; 44 ABOARD

BACK FROM OUTER SPACE — President Eisenhower looks at the nose cone of a missile that has been fired into outer space and returned — proof that the U. S. has mastered the biggest problem of longe-range rockery. He told the nation about the missile in his radio-TV address.

Army Is Given Okay To Develop Satellite

WASHINGTON (UP) — Army space experts raced the Navy today in a new all-out effort to be first to shoot a U. S. satellite up with the Soviet Sputniks at the earliest possible moment.

The Defense Department's surprise decision to reverse itself and throw Army missile hardware into the program underlined the determination of the United States to catch up with the Russians and salvage lost prestige.

It also showed administration officials are trying to guarantee that a made-in-America Sputnik will be launched successfully, perhaps in a few weeks.

Predict Early Launching

Scientists associated with the U.S. satellite effort said Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy's order Friday for the Army to backstop the Navy Vanguard program signaled an early launching. But they did not try to guess who would be first.

The Army said it is "confident" it can carry out the order to "supplement" Vanguard with a scientific satellite launched by a Jupiter experimental missile. The Army was reported to have had a satellite ready to go for six months at its Redstone Arsenal in Huntsville, Ala.

William M. Holaday, McElroy's guided missile director, indicated the decision of who will be first—the Army or Navy — will depend upon who has a satellite ready to launch first.

Navy On Schedule

The Navy has been proceeding along a pre-arranged timetable that calls for sending up six-pound test moons next month and a fully-instrumented satellite in March as part of the International Geophysical Year.

Holaday insisted there was "no race" between the two services. But both were certain to push their programs to completion as fast as possible to get the nod from Holaday.

The missile director said the Army satellite will be cylindrical in shape — like Sputnik II—while the Vanguard artificial moon is round, like Sputnik I.

Annual Veterans Day Will Be Observed in Mon Valley Monday

Traditional memorial services and a huge military parade will feature the Mon Valley's annual observance of Veterans Day on Monday.

The parade this year will be held in California and will begin promptly at 4 p. m.

As usual, the event will be sponsored by veterans organizations from six valley communities: Monessen, Charleroi, Donora, Belle Vernon, Monongahela and California.

At least 15 musical organizations will take part in Monday's parade, which is expected to be one of the largest in California's history. In addition to bands, there will be units from the regular Army, the Army Reserve and the National Guard.

All valley veterans posts will participate in the line of march.

Playing host to the observance will be California American Legion Post 377. The event is alternated yearly among the valley towns.

Besides the parade, the California Post plans a full schedule of events. A memorial service will open the program at 11 a. m.

At 1:30 p. m., a Washington County Midget Football League game will be played at the high school field between Denbo and Marianna. A dance at 8 p. m. at the Moose Home will conclude the day's activities.

The memorial address will be given by Dr. Edgar F. Lawrence, pastor of the California Presbyterian Church.

Taking part in the California observance will be Monessen Allison Lescanac Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 1190, Monessen Thomas McKee American Legion Post 28 and the Belle Vernon American Legion Post 659.

The Monessen High School band will lead the local units, while marching with Post 1190 will be State VFW Commander William J. Tepsic and his aides.

In Monessen the traditional Veterans Day memorial service will take place at 11 a. m. in Sixth St. Park. The brief services will be co-sponsored by the city's VFW and Legion posts.

Delivering the memorial address will be the Rev. Andrew Parvensky, pastor of St. Mary's Greek Catholic Church. Members from the sponsoring posts will march to Sixth St. by way of Donner Ave., beginning promtly at 10:30 a. m.

Most Monessen stores will follow normal shopping hours on Monday. However the A&P and Thorofare will be closed all day. So will the state Liquor Store.

Offices in the city building will also close Monday. The U. S. Post Office lobby will be open but there will be no window service and no mail delivery.

Monessen public school students will attend classes until 11 a. m. In that manner, they will make up one of the days missed during the Asian flu epidemic.

There will be no classes Monday for Rostraver students. At Bellmarette, students will report for one hour.

The Daily Independent will publish on Monday.

GUIDES MISSILES — Dr. James R. Killian, president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, is the "czar" of the U. S. missile program. Killian will have full power to rush production of "high priority top-secret items."

Big Search on For Survivors In the Pacific

HONOLULU (UP) — A double-decked Pan American Airways Stratocruiser with 44 persons aboard was "presumed down" in the Pacific between Honolulu and San Francisco today and a massive air-sea search was underway.

The huge four-engine plane was scheduled to arrive at Honolulu from San Francisco at 7:45 p.m. h.s.t. (12:45 a.m. e.s.t., Saturday), but early today in San Francisco, Robert B. Murray Jr., executive vice president of Pan American's Pacific - Alaska division, told reporters:

"We are now past the gasoline endurance point, and the aircraft must be presumed to be down somewhere in the Pacific. The crew is experienced and well-trained and we are still hopeful."

Large Families Aboard

The plane, piloted by Capt. George H. Brown, of Palo Alto, Calif., carried eight crewmen and 36 passengers, including two large families — Hugh, Scott, Nancy Kimi, Bruce and Anna Clack of Midlands, Mich., and Robert, David, Margaret and Judy Alexander of Los Gatos, Calif.

Coast Guard Rear Adm. Stephen H. Evans, who is coordinating the search effort, said "time ran out" after the plane had been missing some 14 hours.

He immediately launched a massive air and sea search which will cover a 100,000 square mile area between Honolulu and 1,100 miles to the East toward San Francisco.

Coast Guard, Navy and Air Force planes from Hawaii were pressed into the search. Pan American sent planes from both Honolulu and San Francisco. Two submarines and eight Coast Guard cutters were dispatched to the area. Surface vessels in the vicinity were alerted.

Spot Blinking Lights

The Navy search rescue center at Pearl Harbor confirmed a report that a Military Air Transport plane spotted blinking lights on the air route the missing plane would have taken, but search planes found nothing in the area.

It was reported that the lights may have been those of a passing ship.

The last report from the plane came at 3:04 p.m. h.s.t. when the captain radioed he had passed the point of no return, 1,160 miles from Honolulu.

This was near the area where on Oct. 16, 1956, another Pan American plane developed trouble and ditched at sea. All 31 passengers aboard that plane were saved when pilot Richard Ogg circled four hours on two engines to reduce the fuel load and then ditched near a Coast Guard weather ship. The tail broke off on impact, but everyone aboard got out on life rafts and all were picked up within minutes by the crew of the Coast Guard ship.

Two Persons Saved from Burning House

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Two persons were rescued from a blazing North Side rooming house Friday evening by firemen who battled the two-alarm fire for more than two hours. The blaze left 13 roomers homeless.

Firemen, who estimated the damage at $7800, said the blaze started in the basement of the three - story brick building and spread to upper floors.

Anthony Destro, owner of the house, was rescued by laddermen from the roof and Nickolas Andring, 58, a roomer, was led to safety from a second-floor window.

Safety Director Louis Rosenberg and firemen dashed to the second floor and were successful in saving an envelope containing $700 and a strong box. Miss Grace Destro, 3, daughter of the owner, said another envelope containing $418 was missing in the ruins.

Three firemen were overcome by smoke. One was taken to Allegheny General Hospital and the others were treated at the scene.

College Junior 'Attacked' by Kissing Girls

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UP) — A University of Michigan junior who wrote a letter criticizing female "apathy" toward establishing friendships with males, was "attacked" Friday night by three kissing-minded girls.

The student, Richard W. Halladay, was besieged with kisses and emerged lipstick - smeared from his encounter near a women's dorm. He said in a letter to the student newspaper that girls should take the initial step in making contacts between the two sexes.

After being wrestled to the ground and energetically kissed by three unknown female assailants, Halladay underwent a checkup at the University hospital. No injuries were discovered.

He described the attack as "humorous rather than malicious." Perhaps the newspaper can expect more letters along the same line if similar results can be anticipated.

Kelley Wants Relaxation of 'Tight Money'

WASHINGTON (UP) — Democrats today renewed demands for relaxation of federal restraints on credit to counteract rising unemployment — now running 400,000 higher than a year ago

Rep. Augustine B. Kelley (D-Pa.), a member of the Senate-House Economic Committee, told a reporter:

"It's high time for the President to recognize that our economic situation is not favorable. It's high time for adjustments in credit. Tight money is squeezing the housing industry to a halt and hurting automobile sales and small business."

The so-called "tight money" policy is under attack from a growing number of Democrats. The policy is under control of the Federal Reserve Board. In theory at least, the board is not directly responsible to President Eisenhower.

Although there are no direct controls on credit buying, the board for almost two years has fought inflation by restricting the supply of credit. With demand exceeding supply, interest rates charged borrowers soared this fall to the highest levels in 25 years.

Two Accidents In Area Traffic

Two traffic accidents occurred in the district yesterday, state police reported today.

A tractor-trailer rig, operated by William Cottrell, Elyria, Ohio, was involved in an accident with a car driven by Robert Bonucci, R.D., Fayette City, yesterday afternoon on Route 71 near Belle Vernon.

Both drivers escaped injury.

Joseph Colella, Pittsburgh, told police he was traveling on Route 71 near Belle Vernon about 7:30 last night when a hit-run driver struck his car, causing about $300 damage.

Topper Hospital Patient with Flu

Atty. Willis E. Topper, Southwest Greensburg, is an influenza patient in Westmoreland Hospital, Greensburg.

Topper, an unsuccessful Republican candidate for Westmoreland County Common Pleas Court judge last Tuesday, was stricken with influenza about two weeks ago. He had been confined to his home.

Services Monday For Lad Shot in 'Target Practice'

Funeral services will be held Monday afternoon at 1:30 for Thomas Allen Steer Jr., a 16-year-old Monessen youth who died late Thursday night in Mercy Hospital, Pittsburgh, from a bullet wound suffered Sunday.

Steer and four other Monessen High School students, one a girl, were engaged in "target practice" in an area near Twilight Borough about 3:30 p.m. Sunday when a .22 caliber rifle bullet caught Steer behind the right ear.

The bullet entered the brain. An operation attempt to remove the bullet and save the youth's life failed.

State police have yet to identify the person who fired the fatal.

It was learned today that Washinton County juvenile authorities probably will make some disposition of the case Monday or Tuesday.

Flu Vaccine Available Here

Most Monessen and district physicians now have a supply of Asian flu vaccine, a survey indicated today.

However the vaccine isn't expected to last long. According to one drug firm, the government has placed new regulations on the vaccine. This is expected to create a new shortage in a week or so.

The vaccine now available is for the Asian strain of flu only. Another vaccine designed to provide protection against several flu strains was expected this month, but no drug houses have placed it on the market as yet.

Valley Misses Most Of Storm Damages

Gale force winds whipped across Southwestern Pennsylvania yesterday, but the Monongahela Valley district apparently escaped the heavy brunt of the blow.

Only minor damage was reported in the valley and most of that was in the Monongahela-Finleyville area.

Strong gusts of wind lashed the area Friday afternoon and evening, but they did little more than blow off a few hats, it appeared.

Both the West Penn Power Co. and Bell Telephone Co. reported only minor damage to their lines. The telephone company said there was some "line wrapping" near Finleyville, but no other trouble. The West Penn said the only damage in the immediate area was confined to Elizabeth.

More Wind Today

At U.S. Lock No. 4, Monessen, a rainfall of .36 inches was recorded yesterday. The temperature today at 7 a.m. was 36 degrees, while the Monongahela River level at the lock was 15.5 feet at the upper gauge and 11.8 feet at the lower gauge.

According to the Weather Bureau in Pittsburgh, more wind gusts are predicted for today. The temperature isn't expected to rise beyond the 30's and snow flurries are anticipated before the weekend is over.

While the Monessen area escaped the full force of yesterday's winds, other districts in southwestern Pennsylvania were not so lucky. Winds in Pittsburgh were recorded up to 74 miles per hours.

Four ten - year - old pupils at Washington, Pa.'s 8th Ward School were cut by flying glass when wind shattered windows in a classroom.

Five persons were injured when glass flew from a window of an S.S. Kresge Store in Pittsburgh.

Trees and power lines were blown down, roofs blown off, and chimneys toppled by the high winds.

Wildcat Mine Strike Meeting Over Weekend

WAYNESBURG, Pa. (UP)—Officers of the United Mine Workers' Local 4731 will meet during the weekend to discuss ways of ending a wildcat strike which has idled between 10,000 and 12,000 miners in Greene, Fayette and Washington counties, it was reported today.

The result of their efforts would not be known before Tuesday. The mines will be closed Monday because of the Veterans Day holiday.

The wildcat strike began last Monday over a seniority dispute resulting from the furloughing of 83 workers at the Crucible Steel Company mine at Crucible, Greene County.

Roving pickets from the Crucible local closed at least 16 other major mines in the three-county area. Two mines were closed by the pickets Friday — the Bethlehem mine at Bentleyville and the Youngstown Sheet and Tube mine at Ontario.

After start of the wildcat strike an agreement was reached at Washington for settlement of the dispute. The miners, however, rejected the agreement.

Army Colonel Feels Partially Vindicated Today

ATLANTA (UP)— The colonel who was "exiled" to a remote post in the Panama Canal Zone because he championed too loudly the Army's role in the missile program must feel partially vindicated today.

Col. John C. Nickerson Jr., one-time trouble shooter for the Army's intermediate range ballistic missile program, warned the country last June the IRBM was very much the Army's business despite Defense Department objections.

Nickerson entered into the missile picture quietly a year ago when former Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson assigned the Air Force to take charge of IRBMs. In doing so, Wilson bypassed the Army's Jupiter and ordered concentration on the rival Air Force's Thor.

Nickerson began his own private fight to swing the missile program emphasis back into the Army camp. The Army had German scientists with 20 years experience and the government could save 100 million dollars by forging ahead with Jupiter...so why scrap it? Nickerson said.

The Army was directed Friday to prepare to launch an earth satellite using a modified form of the 'Jupiter C" test vehicle, an outgrowth of the Army's Jupiter IRBM program for which Nickerson fought.

The order brought partial vindication to the colonel and in this respect he went the late Billy Mitchell one better. Mitchell, champion of air power, was court martialed and did not find his place in history until after his death.

No Parking at Widening Section

Chief of Police Michael Kuvinka announced today there will be no parking on Schoonmaker Ave. between 10th and 12th streets beginning at 7 a.m. Monday.

Workmen on the Schoonmaker Ave. improvement program will begin tearing up bricks in that area.

Two Cars Collide In Accident Here

Two cars were involved in an accident at Third St. and Donner Ave. yesterday afternoon, police reported today.

The drivers were Edith Gee, 219 First St., and William Wentzel, 628 Chestnut St., both of Monessen. The latter, police said, assumed responsiblity for the mishap.

Furman Supporter Is Fired from State Job

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader has fired Clarence P. Bowers, Reading, as an $8,500 a year member of the state Labor Relations Board.

The governor sent the outspoken Bowers a sharply worded telegram Friday notifying him that he was removed from office, effective at 5 p.m.

The action followed in the wake of Bowers' charge Thursday that the governor threatened to fire him unless he accepted a state post which would prevent him from participating in political activities. Bowers said Leader asked him to take the appointment to the Unemployment Compensation Board of Review, a post which carries an $11,000 annual salary.

He asserted Gov. Leader wanted to place him in a position which would prevent political support of Lt. Gov. Roy E. Furman as a gubernatorial candidate next week.

However, Gov. Leader said Bowers told him last July he would accept the appointment, but subsequently changed his mind.

Leader's telegram told Bowers, "Yesterday, you made a public attack upon me as governor, ascribing to my request that you change positions, a motive that did not exist. Therefore, in accordance with the authority vested in me...I hereby remove you from office..."

The governor said his reason for suggesting a transfer to Bowers was for the "interest of the Commonwealth." Members of the Unemployment Review Board are barred from engaging in politics under the Federal Hatch Act.

Furman is not an announced candidate for the governorship, but he has commented privately he is interested in securing the Democratic gubernatorial bid.

Constable Warns Against Shooting

Constable Jack Stonfer, Twilight Borough, today issued a warning against using Twilight Hollow as a target practice area.

He said he has constantly warned against the practice, long before last Sunday's shooting incident which has resulted in the death of 16-year-old Thomas Steer Jr., Monessen.

Violators will be arrested and fined.

Torquato to Speak

John R. Torquato, former state Secretary of Labor, will address a regular meeting of Pittsburgh Steel Local 1229, United Steelworkers (AFL-CIO), Tuesday at 6:30 p.m. at the C.I.O. Building, 803 Donner Ave., Monessen.

State to Tighten Its Sales Tax Enforcement

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Revenue Department today announced two new policy rulings aimed at tightening collections enforcement of Pennsylvania's 3 per cent sales tax from contractors and manufacturers.

The first ruling held that supply houses must now collect sales tax from contractors and subcontractors on the sale of materials and equipment used in contracting operations. The department emphasized that the contractor cannot collect the tax from persons for whom he performs construction or installation work.

If a contractor also runs an "over-the-counter" retail business he may buy items for this operation free of tax, and then collect the tax from his store customers like any other retailer.

Revenue Secretary Gerald A. Gleeson said the department, up until Jan. 1, will make assessments and penalties "only where the Commonwealth has been short changed both on sales coming in and going out of the contractor's operations." After that date, he said, the tax must be paid by the proper source.

"In other words," Gleeson said, "until Jan. 1, if the contractor paid or the supplier paid the tax, this will be taken into consideration."

At the same time, the department ruled that the manufacturer's exemption applies only to firms manufacturing "new and different products," and not to those who "merely make some change in the appearance of property."

Said Gleeson:

"The law is and always has been that fixtures such as bath tubs, furnaces, air-conditioners, and electrical fixtures attached to real estate are taxable when the contractor buys them. These are sales at retail, not wholesale. The law taxes retail sales, but not sales for resale."

Car Stolen from Home's Driveway

John Span reported to police that someone took his car while it was parked in the driveway of his home at 65 Willow Dr. between 12:30 and 1:30 this morning.

The car is a 1957 Chevrolet hardtop sedan with a yellow bottom and green top.

St. John Church to Hold Special Service; Guild to Get Award

A $4,000 chandelier will be blessed and the Ladies Altar Guild will receive a church award tomorrow during special vesper services at St. John The Divine Russian Orthodox Greek Catholic Church. First St. and McKee Ave., Monessen.

The Very Rev. John Govrusik, pastor, said the service will begin at 4 p.m.

The chandelier, donated by the Ladies Altar Guild and the parishioners, will be blessed as part of the vesper ceremony.

The Ladies Altar Guild will then be presented a "Gramota", the highest award that can be bestowed by the Russian Orthodox Church on lay people or lay organizations.

The presentation will be made by The Very Rev. Peter Kreta, Dean of the Pittsburgh Deanery, who will act in behalf of the Bishop's Council of the Russian Orthodox Church in North America.

The vesper service will be sung by the famed Pittsburgh District Russian Orthodox Male Chorus under the direction of the Rev. Nicholas Fedetz of Canonsburg. This chorus has presented programs in the Carnegie Music Hall and auditoriums in the states of Pennsylvania, Ohio and Michigan.

Following the service, there will be a "buffet pot luck" dinner served by the ladies of the parish to the public without charge in the church auditorium.

Ten visiting priests will take part in the service: The Very Rev. Kreta: The Very Rev. Gregory Soroka, Charleroi; The Very Rev. Nicholas Senofsky, Mingo Junction, O.; The Very Rev. Michael Kostek, Weirton, W. Va.; The Very Rev. John Gaydos, Masontown; Rev. Nicholas Fedorchak, Monongahela; Rev. John Oleynik, New Salem; Rev. Michael Ugrin, West Brownsville; Rev. Basil Buchovecky, Donora; and Rev. Dimitry Yermach, Carnegie.

The public is invited to attend the vesper service and dinner.

Pope in Plea To Keep Dress Necklines Decent

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy (UP)—Pope Pius XII said today dress necklines should be in keeping with the "dignity and seriousness" of public customs and not, according to the views of a "decaying and corrupt society."

He urged that movie stars be enlisted in a campaign against immodest dresses.

In an address to leaders of the "Latin Union of High Fashion," the 81-year-old Pontiff warned against immorality in fashions, which, he said, can spring from either immodesty or excessive luxury.

The Pope suggested that fashion designers look for their inspiration to the simple and sober elegance of some female figures in the great masterpieces of classical art.

He also urged them to win the support of "at least some" film stars in a campaign against immodest and lavish dresses because fashion is one of those fields in which public opinion is most in need of guidance.

Dead Woman Is Elected to Office

CENTERVILLE, Pa. (UP)—The office of Centerville Borough auditor, to which a dead woman was elected in Tuesday's elections, will be filled by appointment, borough council said today.

Mrs. Helen Hyatt, who died last July, received 656 votes to 363 for the Republican candidate.

Mrs. Hyatt, who had been auditor of this Washington County community for 11 years, died after the ballots were printed.

Many Get Flu During Week

WASHINGTON (UP)—The U.S. Public Health Service reported today that 1,250,000 Americans were stricken with influenza last week.

It brought to 4,750,000 the number of cases reported since the first case of Asian flu was recorded last summer.

The health service also reported that 856 persons in 108 large cities died of influenza and pneumonia last week. This was a 11 per cent increase in fatalities from the diseases over the previous week, when 771 died.

Last week's cases of flu were the largest number reported so far. They were based on reports from 40 states.

HOW SMALL, YET HOW BIG
How small a man seems—walking down a lonely road on a rainy day, with gaunt trees towering over him.
How small man is, and how frail in body. The trees in the picture and even the chimneys on the old house will probably long outlive the man.
Yet how big man is—in the things that are not of the body, but are of the mind and soul. God has not made man mammoth. But He has made him potentially great—if he will but accept the blessings given him, and use the tools of Christian teachings.
Man finds in the Church, the encouragement and the instruction to enable him to make from his God-given divine spark something great and enduring—and of benefit to all human-kind.
HOLY BIBLE
THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Washington County About Broke; Needs Money for Payroll

Washington County is just about out of ready cash again.

As a matter of fact, the County Commissioners plan to borrow $200,000 next Tuesday in time to meet the mid-November payroll.

Cash balances in the county general fund were down to just $50,000 at the start of this week, and more than half of that money was paid to election officials for their work last Tuesday.

With four more payrolls to meet before the end of 1957, the Commissioners estimate that they will need at least $200,000 to fulfil financial obligations. There is a strong possibility that an additional $50,000 to $100,000 will also have to be borrowed before the new fiscal year begins.

The Commissioners have already passed a resolution calling for the $200,000 loan. However two requirements must be met before the People's First Bank of Washington, Pa., supplies the money.

The first requirement is a written opinion by County Solicitor Frank J. Docktor to the effect that the county has the legal capacity to borrow the money. This opinion has been requested by the bank.

Controller Reluctant

The second requirement is the signature of Controller Peter Elish. In recent weeks, Elish has been critical of the county's fiscal policies and has indicated he might be reluctant about signing his signature to such a loan.

But most observers feel Elish will go along, pointing out that he has little choice.

Year-end borrowing is not novel to Washington County. However there was some hope that the budget would be balanced when the Commissioners raised tax millage in each of the past two years.

That Commissioners contend that much of the current financial plight is due to unexpected but necessary expenditures. They point in particular to the cleaning of the courthouse and jail which cost about $90,000, half of which will be paid next year.

The failure of the county to get through the year without borrowing after increasing the millage also indicates any reduction in the current record millage is almost out of the question in 1958.

For one thing, the final heavy expenditures in the new equalized assessment program will probably have to be paid next year, a matter of several hundred thousand dollars. For another, the second payment on the courthouse cleaning will have to come from 1958 revenue. For another, the annual payments on the county's newest bond issues, four for the airport and two in the institution district now amount to nearly a half-mill alone.

Storm

ington were treated at Washington Hospital.

Rosalee Petango, 18, Pittsburgh suffered a severe laceration from the flying glass at the Kresge store and underwent surgery at Pittsburgh Hospital for a leg cut. The other four persons injured were treated and released.

In Washington, a chimney toppled onto a carport, smashing its roof. Heavy damage was reported in Canonsburg and Peters Twp., Washington County. Damage also was high at Waynesburg, Greene County.

Wires were downed and trees uprooted in several sections of Pittsburgh. Some areas were without lights for as long as two hours.

Wind Lifts Roof

In the Oakland section of Pittsburgh, a roof was blown off a garage and landed on five cars. Two of the vehicles were demolished.

Greentree Borough police reported many power failures. The St. Clair Memorial Hospital switched to emergency power when lines were blown down.

Pittsburgh radio station WJAS was off the air for nearly one hour because of the Greentree power failure.

Emergency crews of the Duquesne Light Co. were swamped with calls about hazardous conditions caused by hot wires.

The Pittsburgh Weather Bureau said the winds were caused by a cold front moving into Southwestern Pennsylvania.

Revival Planned In Belle Vernon

The Rev. Clair H. Hess, pastor of the Free Methodist churches in Belle Vernon and Charleroi, is announcing a series of revival meetings to be held nightly at 7:30 from Nov. 26 through Dec. 8 at the Belle Vernon church.

The speaker will be the Rev. Jim Tomb, Kittanning, and special music has been planned for each service.

In preparation for the meetings the pastor and congregation are promoting cottage prayer meetings at the homes of individual members. These are held every morning at 10 o'clock, Monday through Friday, and will continue until the opening date of the series.

CSTC Students Will Observe Veterans Day

Students at California State Teachers College will observe the opening of American Education Week and Veterans Day with a special assembly program in Steel Auditorium at 10:15 in the morning and an afternoon holiday.

The Veterans Club under the sponsorship of Dr. O R Bontrager will present the special memorial assembly. Richard Bernardo, a junior from Belle Vernon and a Korean veteran, will preside at the program.

Lucille Musial of Monessen will entertain with selections on the electric organ. Henry Ream and Ronald Jones, Belle Vernon freshmen, will play taps after the traditional moment of silence.

In keeping with the theme of American Education Week, An Educated People Moves Freedom Forward, the emphasis for Veterans Day is "Education for Responsible Citizenship."

Local Girl Is Pantomime Artist In College Shows

Winning acclaim at Mansfield State Teachers College for her interpretation of the art of pantomime is RoseMarie Nicolette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nicolette of Belle Vernon.

A sophomore in the music department at the college, Miss Nicolette, has appeared at many college functions. She first appeared early in 1957 in a Hungarian Relief Show, and since that time she has performed in many college productions.

Before going to Mansfield, Miss Nicolette was active at Bellmar High School. She performed at Twin Coaches, Park Casino, Italian Hall in Belle Vernon, took part in many church and club programs in the district.

At Mansfield she has been dubbed, "A Sure Cure for the Blues" for her ability to make her audience laugh at her unusual interpretations.

Returns Home from Charlestown, W. Va.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kibbler and family, Mrs. John Holder, Mrs. Edward Whetzel and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Noel and family have returned home after spending a few days in Charleston, W. Va. They were called there due to the death of Mrs. Walter Saitz, the former Mary McKinley, who was a resident of Belle Vernon before moving to West Virginia.

Mrs. Saitz, who was a sister to Mrs. Kibbler and Mrs. Holder, died on Monday. Funeral services were held for her on Wednesday.

Card Club Meets Thursday Evening

With Mrs. Betty Domonkos acting as hostess for Mrs. Mary Pupilli, members of her card club were entertained on Thursday evening at the Columbus Hotel in Charleroi.

Two tables of five hundred were in play, and those receiving high score awards were Mrs. Mary Nicolette, Mrs. Mary Peroney, Mrs. Mary Lori and Mrs. Sophie Rizzutto.

A guest for the evening was Helen Mihalega of Fairhope.

Luncheon was served, and plans were made to meet in two weeks with Mrs. Rizzutto as hostess.

Father of Local Man in Florida

Charles Peth of Ingram, father of John C. Peth of Belle Vernon, left this week to spend the winter months in St. Petersburg, Fla. He is nearing 90 years of age, and was making his first plane trip when he went south.

Mr. Peth was accompanied by his sister, Miss Minnie Peth, who is 94 years of age, and she also was making her first plane trip. They will be joined by Mr. and Mrs. J.C. Peth for a few weeks later on.

New Members Inducted by Washington Twp. Lions

Induction of new members highlighted the Wednesday evening meeting of the Washington Township Lions Club held in the social rooms of the Marion Presbyterian Church.

J.O. Clawson, zone chairman, was in charge of the ceremonies. He is a member of the Belle Vernon Lions Club. Emil Dolfi, president, was in charge.

Group singing was led by Edward Breakwell, and the invocation was by Ted Bishop.

New members inducted included Tom Gilchrist, Ernest DeSimone, Melvin Renkey, Walter Kobosky Jr. and John Orrison.

Committee appointments were made as follows: Gilchrist, sight and conservation; Kobosky, community betterment; Orrison, health and welfare, Renkey, civic improvement, and DeSimone, safety. Ray Owens and Stanley Koslasky, who were re-instated were named to the health and welfare committee and education committee.

Herman W. Ermlick, vice president of the Roscoe Lions Club, was present as a guest.

Guy Winn reported on the mass induction held at Irwin on Oct. 22. Ted Bishop reported on the Halloween party held at Blue Top Hotel on Oct. 31, James Jesick reported on the Thanksgiving project.

The program featured an address by Clawson on "Lionism."

Bible Class in Meeting Here; Election Planned

Mrs. Charles Strenske and Janet Muir entertained members of the R. J. Linton Bible Class of the First Presbyterian Church at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Braithwood of Locust St.

The meeting was opened with the group singing of "What A Friend We Have in Jesus." Mrs Fred Shearer gave the opening prayer. The devotional program was conducted by Mrs. Fred Jeffries and Mrs. Viola Fox. Mrs. Jeffries read the scripture, and Mrs. Fox offered prayer after which a hymn was sung. Mrs. Fox took as her theme "Autumn," and read an appropriate poem. The group then sang "Bringing in the Sheaves."

Mrs. Ewing Brown and Mrs. Mary Clawson, two ill members, were remembered by the group.

Plans were made for the election of officers, and the following nominating committee was appointed, Mrs. Strenske, Janet Muir and Mrs. Fox.

A donation was voted to the annual Praise Service at the church.

The next meeting will be in the form of a Christmas party. A covered dish dinner will be served at 6 o'clock. Christmas gifts will be exchanged and each member is asked to bring a "white elephant."

Luncheon was served by the hostesses.

Boy Scout Meeting Here Tomorrow

A meeting has been announced for tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at St. Sebastian Roman Catholic Church for boys 11 years of age or over, who are interested in becoming Boy Scouts. They must not be affiliated in any way with any other Boy Scout troop and be members of St. Sebastian parish.

The boys should be accompanied by one or both parents.

Holy Name Society To Take Communion

The Holy Name Society of the St. Sebastian Church will attend the 9 o'clock mass on Sunday morning and receive Holy Communion in a body.

There will be a breakfast served following in the school rooms. Guest speaker at the breakfast session will be Austin Murphy Jr., assistant Washington County District Attorney.

Philathea Class Plans Annual Christmas Party

The Philathea Class of the First Methodist Church met on Thursday evening in the social rooms of the church. The president, Mrs. Della Forsyth, was in charge. The devotional period was conducted by Mrs. Theresa Lupori and Mrs. Deed Allen. The theme was "Thanksgiving."

There were 27 members present and Mrs. Lillian Dudgeon was welcomed as a new member. The birthday anniversary of Mrs. Jane Gates was observed.

Mrs. Charles Keller was congratulated upon becoming a great grandmother, and Mrs. Thomas Sims upon becoming a grandmother.

Plans were discussed for the annual Christmas party to be held at the next regular meeting. There will be an exchange of 50 cent gifts. The committee in charge of the affair includes Mrs. Eleanor Barrass and Mrs. Ruth Gilchrist. The sale of ribbon will be continued by the class members.

A social hour followed and luncheon was served by the hostesses, Marjorie Lehew, Lillian Bogart, Florence Evans, and Helen Cover.

The President Is Reacting Sensibly

THE FIRST of President Eisenhower's series of talks to the nation indicates to us that the administration is reacting seriously but sensibly and deliberately to the new challenges posed by Soviet scientific advancement.

Some of the partisan criticism which has been directed at the administration since the launching of the first Sputnik might have driven a less well balanced President than Mr. Eisenhower to, as he put it, "mount a charger and go riding off in all directions."

Instead the President is charting a program which he says "will continue lines of action now well begun", will involve "new action" and also "new dimensions of effort."

He is bringing to his side Dr. James R. Killian, president of the great Massachusetts Institute of Technology and a brilliant scientific administrator. And Dr. Killian is being clothed with the kind of authority which ought to insure maximum effort and coordination of both governmental and private research and development, particularly in the weapons field.

There will be those who will say that this should have been done long ago, and perhaps they are right. But we cannot forget that the President of the United States is not a dictator. And until Sputnik took off, the mood of the country and of Congress has been for less, not more, governmental activity and spending in the whole realm of defense and mutual security.

* * *

IT IS WELL that the President is avoiding any temptation to deliver mere pep-talks. His speech Thursday night was a sober, factual presentation.

The American people ought not to require emotional shots in the arm. They are supposed to be a thinking people, and as such what they need is not pep but information which will help them to support their chosen leaders intelligently, especially when these leaders are calling upon them for unusual sacrifices and strenuous efforts.

If there has been any complacency in the White House, in Congress or among the people, it ought to be vanishing quickly. When it does, the nation can face the future with calm and confidence. The power of the United States, properly mobilized and directed, is a fearsome thing. And we suspect the Soviet leaders know that as well as we do.

City Planning No Path of Roses

ONE of the big problems in preparing a master plan for the future development of a community is to reconcile the needs and ambitions of the future with the realities of the present.

Monessen's Planning Commission is encountering this problem in the preparation of a new zoning ordinance. In an attempt to protect purely residential neighborhoods against haphazard encroachment by commercial establishments, it has met vigorous opposition from the owners of such establishments now operating in residential neighborhoods.

These people are naturally concerned about the future of their investments. And to meet their objections, the Planning Commission has deleted from its proposals a provision for the gradual elimination of these encroachments. The Commission did so, not because its members are convinced that such provisions are not necessary and desirable, but because the city solicitor advises that these restrictions have not yet been fully tested in the courts.

This may be sensible advice, and we do not object to the Commission's retreat in this instance.

We think it is important, however, for both the Planning Commission and the City Council, which makes the final decisions in these matters, to school themselves in the fine art of separating the long-range best interests of the whole community from the immediate interests of individuals and small groups and of giving priority to the former.

This is going to require sound judgment and, in many instances, political courage. For we cannot build a better city by perpetuating the mistakes of the past. And it is improbable that such mistakes can be corrected or prevented from recurring without inconveniencing anyone.

The city administration has just come through a campaign in which it took political credit for some of the progress that has been made. But if it thinks the road to a better city is strewn with thornless roses and lined by cheering crowds, it is much mistaken.

U. S. Fumbles Cultural Exchanges

By DREW PEARSON

SAN FRANCISCO — Out of the clear blue the other day, Benjamino Bufano, California sculptor, received a telegram from Moscow. It read:

"We invite you to visit Moscow as the guest of the Soviet Government to help promote an exchange of art and culture. You will be free to travel at will through the Soviet Union. Please contact the Soviet Embassy in Washington to arrange travel details."

Mr. Pearson

The telegram was signed by the Russian Committee for the Exchange of Artists, Professors, and Scientists, equivalent to the "People-to-People Friendship" Committee appointed by President Eisenhower.

Mr. Bufano has pioneered sculptured art in stainless steel on the west coast. His statue of St. Francis stands in the North Beach Catholic church; his statue of Sun Yat-sen in St. Mary's square; and the San Francisco Chronicle is presenting his statue of "Peace" to the municipal airport. Astutely, the Russian government picked him for an all-expense paid visit to Russia. Naturally, he accepted.

Red Tape And Culture

Meanwhile, here is how people-to-people friendship, announced by Eisenhower at the Geneva "summit" conference as the official policy of the United States, is progressing in Washington.

Last April, Alvin Eurich of the Ford Foundation, returning from Russia on a survey of education, was asked by the State Department to come to Washington for a conference.

While in Washington, Eurich asked Ambassador William Lacy, in charge of cultural exchanges behind the Iron Curtain, to permit Prof. A. D. Alexandrov, head of the University of Leningrad, to come to Washington.

Alexandrov is probably the top mathematical physicist in the world. He is the Russian scientist who is working on plans to reach the moon, and has stated publicly that it will be quite feasible to place an observation platform on the moon.

Ambassador Lacy asked Eurich to write him a letter, which Eurich did on May 20. In it he again told how Professor Alexandrov desired to come to the United States, and outlined how such a visit could benefit American scientists.

As of this writing, Eurich had no reply to that letter. He did get one telephone call from the State Department in June.

"Do you know what's involved in bringing Dr. Alexandrov to the United States?" asked W. Paul O'Neill, a member of the State Department Office of Cultural Exchange. "Would you be prepared to meet him and accompany him every place in the United States?"

Eurich said that he would be prepared to meet Alexandrov but could not accompany him every place in the United States as he had other commitments.

"Would you be prepared to have a responsible person meet him at every airport?" asked O'Neill.

"Yes, I would."

"Would you be prepared to have a responsible person accompany him on any train?"

Eurich replied in the affirmative.

"May I then invite him?" Eurich asked.

"Yes," said O'Neill. "But we are not yet prepared to issue a visa."

"Then I'm not going to embarrass Dr. Alexandrov by inviting him and having him wait for a visa which might not arrive," said Eurich.

State Department Forgot

He was so right. As of this week, Dr. Alexandrov had not received the visa and had not been invited. This despite the fact that Alexandrov had shown Eurich the Russian cyclotron and everything else in the University of Leningrad laboratories.

Furthermore, since Russia seems to be far ahead of us in developing the sputnik and other means of space travel, it would appear that Dr. Alexandrov could steal no secrets from the United States, while American scientists might benefit from talking with him.

Learning these facts, I telephoned Mr. O'Neill at the State Department. He did not remember an "Alexandrov" and seemed completely vague regarding any application for his visit. He said he would have to look the matter up.

I also called Ambassador Lacy. He did remember Dr. Alexandrov, but he didn't recall that permission had been asked for his entry into the United States.

Thirty minutes after my phone call, however, Mr. O'Neill got on the telephone to Mr. Eurich in New York to tell him that Dr. Alexandrov was onw cordially invited to visit the United States.

NOTE: Dr. Alexandrov visited Canada last month, but unable to come to the United States, went all the way back to Russia.

What Moscow Isn't Celebrating

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

The leaders of the Kremlin — those who haven't been purged this week — are putting on a well engineered and orchestrated celebration of the 40th anniversary of Soviet Communism.

Mr. Drummond

From Hungary's cringing Janos Kadar to China's confident Mao Tse-Tung, the reigning heads of all the Communist countries (none of whose peoples ever chose Communism) and Communist parties — with the exception of Marshal Tito who has a real but very convenient backache — are in Moscow to witness and give luster to the occasion.

Moscow's doings will get attention if they have to rocket Zhukov to the moon, and maybe they will.

The Soviets are not suffering from neglect. On the morning after the half-ton Sputnik II was launched 1056 miles into outer space, a conservative, capitalist newspaper like the "New York Herald Tribune" gave eight front-page dispatches to news generated by Moscow. This reflected the intense American reader interest.

Not All Favorable

Not all this was favorable to Moscow, of course. There was further news on the efforts of the Kremlin to destroy the reputation — and influence — of Marshal Zhukov. There was a story which showed that the whole world has become more infuriated at the Soviets putting the little dog in the window of Sputnik against its will than it was at Stalin's liquidation of 2,000,000 Russian peasants who were being collectivized against their will.

The Kremlin has much to celebrate. It will be perilous if we close our eyes to what the Kremlin has to celebrate. But it is also well to take some inventory of what the Soviets are not celebrating at this 40th anniversary.

The Russians appear to be celebrating the 40th anniversary of the birth of Communism, but the truth is that they have discarded and buried every claim to every ideal and concept of Marx and Engel to which they once gave lip-service.

What remains is not a dictatorship of the proletariat but a dictatorship over the proletariat.

People Repressed

What remains is a naked military repression over every people, including the Russian people, over whom Soviet rule has been imposed by force.

What remains is the exploitation of labor by a group of exploiters more ruthless than Marx ever complained about.

What has happened in the last 40 years is that while Western capitalism has shown that it can and does serve the common interest of labor and capital, Soviet "Communism" has, in the words of one candid ex-Communist, Milovan Djilas, spawned "a new group of exploiters whose power over men (for its own privilege and benefit) is the most complete known to history."

What the Soviets are not celebrating is the unending power struggle within the Kremlin since Stalin, since the great "renunciation" of the policy of purge. Five full members of the Presidium have been erased from office — one shot — and three other top leaders dropped through the trap-door, all branded as enemies.

What the Soviets are not celebrating is the evident return to one man rule, probably by the inexorable law of dictatorship itself.

What the Soviets are not celebrating is the gathering restlessness of protest and dissension which prevails among the satellite peoples and to an increasing extent among the Russian people, especially youth.

Military Dictatorship

This does not mean that the Soviet dictatorship is a declining menace to the free world.

Soviet power is greater today than ever but the need is to recognize where that power comes from. What is becoming fully visible, it seems to me, is this:

That there is no Soviet Communist dictatorship.

That there is only a Soviet military dictatorship.

That Communism is no longer a dream or a promise which can offer any appeal to any people as a solution to any national need.

That what runs the USSR is naked power in the hands of a small clique who have proved that a nation can be powerfully industrialized by force.

The danger to the free world is not Communism; it is aggressive militarism hiding under the guise of Communism.

Chips Are Down in Field of Education

By HARRY R. PORE Jr

Next week is National Education Week, and I am among those who think that what is known as the "crisis in education" may be a greater danger to the United States than Sputnik.

This crisis has several aspects, and together they comprise one of the most complex national problems we have ever faced.

There is, for instance, the shortage of teachers — especially good teachers. Not nearly enough able young people are planning careers as teachers, and too many good teachers are still leaving the field. I do not have the statistics on this at hand, but they are appalling.

The main reason for this, of course, is money. Teachers' salaries still are not good enough at any level of the education system to attract and hold any but the most dedicated people.

The salary situation in the colleges is particularly bad. Just the other day I had a letter from the chairman of the alumni fund of my own college. He cited three specific cases of professors who had left the college within the last year, one for a salary nearly twice what the college could pay him.

And this when our facilities for higher education face the greatest strain in their history.

Shortage of Classrooms

There is the shortage of modern classrooms for the public schools. Congress has twice considered this problem and twice refused to do anything about it.

Like many of our educators, I have been puzzled by this refusal and especially by some of the attitudes which have blocked congressional action on school building construction.

Take the U. S. Chamber of Commerce for instance. Here surely is a body which ought to be mightily concerned that the nation have an adequate system of universal education. And it says it is concerned.

But the U. S. Chamber fought the school bill bitterly on the ground that the states can meet the need without federal assistance which might bring federal control. When the bill was before Congress, I received from the Chamber bulletin after bulletin on this theme.

But when the bill was defeated, the bulletins on education suddenly stopped. I have to wonder whether this great business organization was as interested in a good school system as it was in saving a tax buck.

There is still another aspect of the education crisis that I think educators themselves should be more concerned about than some of them are. And that is to be sure that learning is the primary object of going to school.

Over the last weekend I heard part of a radio interview with Mortimer Adler, the great writer and philosopher. He was talking about how we can catch up with the Russians in scientific matters where we are behind.

Less 'Fun' in Education

One thing we'll have to do, said Prof. Adler, is to take a lot of the "fun" out of education. By which he means less football, less fraternity, fewer so-called "activities" of all kinds — and more learning.

As one who had a good time in college, I would certainly regret to see the American campus become a place for cheerless grinds bent only upon cramming their noggins. If this is what they are doing in the Russian colleges, I doubt if we need to copy the idea.

But it is surely beyond argument that the quest for knowledge has to come first in the minds of students and in the programs of the institutions they attend. And it seems to me almost obscene that some universities are still giving classroom and dormitory space to students majoring in football and are paying coaches more than they pay full professors.

This is the kind of thing I'm sure Prof. Adler is thinking about when he says we must take the fun out of education. We simply have to invest the time and the talents of our people and the resources of our country in enterprises which will bear more fruit. In education, as in other phases of our national life, the chips are down.

National Affairs—

Election Shows Trend Toward Democrats

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UP) — There was little but bad news for the Republican Party in this week's scattering of elections.

One bright spot: California's Gov. Goodwin J. Knight abandoned his re-election campaign, leaving the GOP nomination to Sen. William F. Knowland, while he seeks Knowland's Senate seat.

The Republican Party in California thereby avoided a primary contest which could have been destructive. Vice President Richard M. Nixon is credited with arranging the foregoing solution of a party problem in his own state to the considerable improvement of his chances to win the 1960 Republican presidential nomination.

The further word on California is that Knowland was not enthusiastic about the deal, being anxious to lick Knight in a bruising primary contest and, further, being contentedly confident that he could do it, too.

Bad News

Bad news: New Jersey Negro voters remained loyal to the memory of Franklin D. Roosevelt's New Deal. FDR's political heir this week in New Jersey was Democratic Gov. Robert B. Meyner who defeated Republican nominee Malcom S. Forbes. Returns from New Jersey's Negro wards will depress Republican strategists and comfort Democratic office holders in the North. Northern Democrats have been fearful that their Negro constituents would desert them in protest against the white supremacists who dominate the party in the South.

More bad news: Virginia voters reversed the state's trend toward the two-party system in a whopping endorsement of massive, unrelenting opposition to racial integration of the public school system. The endorsement of massive resistance and the reversal of the two-party trend will have impact throughout the old Confederacy where Virginia is historically a pace-maker.

Bad news continued: The pollings elevated two bright, new Democratic figures to national prominence. New Jersey's Gov. Meyner was off to a fast start toward the 1960 Democratic presidential nomination, having demonstrated his vote-appeal among independents, Negroes and, importantly, Republicans. New York Democratic Mayor Robert F. Wagner Jr. was re-elected with a bulge of nearly 1,000,000 votes. Wagner became a deadly menace to any and all Republican holders of statewide office, especially including Sen. Irving M. Ives who is up for re-election next year.

Badly Licked

For consideration at the White House: Republican candidates in New Jersey and New York City were badly licked despite President Eisenhower's urgent endorsement—and, in New Jersey, despite campaign stumping by Nixon and other administration notables.

All of this and the Democratic win in Wisconsin's recent senatorial election indicate a political pattern or the emergence of a trend toward a substantial Democratic victory in next year's congressional elections. Such a victory, in turn, would establish a trend toward the election of a Democratic president of the United States in 1960.

Now is the time, as someone said, for all good men to come to the aid of their party, although it already may be too late.

Marlene B. Frye Wed Today

Is Bride of W. H. Artis at Local Church

This morning, Nov. 9, at 10:30 o'clock in the First Methodist Church nuptial vows were exchanged by Marlene B. Frye and William H. Artis. Dr. Leroy S. Cass, church pastor, officiated at the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with vases of white gladiolus, Areca palms and ferns.

White crash lined the church aisle used by the bridal party, and white satin bows indicated the family pews.

Beryl Fleming, church organist, played a prelude of nuptial organ music. Mrs. Inette Stubbs sang "Because," "With This Ring" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Audley M. Frye of 124 Knox Ave., and the bridegroom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Artis, who were residents of Webster.

Entering the sanctuary of the arm of her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of white Chantilly lace. It was fashioned with a portrait neckline, long pointed sleeves and fitted midriff. The full bouffant skirt ended in a chapel train. She chose a fingertip veil of imported illusion attached to an imported Swedish rhinestone crown. She carried a cascade of white fuji mums and pompons intermingled with white lace.

Mrs. William H. Artis
(Marlene B. Frye)

Honor Attendant

Jonalyn Thompson of Belle Vernon was the maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Lois Zanardelli of Belle Vernon, Nancy Hayward and Shirley Anderson of Monessen.

Identically attired, the bridal attendants chose floor length gowns of aquamarine nylon chiffon and velvet. Their gowns were fashioned with a portrait neckline, a fitted criss cross effect bodice, velvet midriff and a full bouffant skirt emphasized with a bustle back. They wore matching brief veils held to velvet crowns, matching aqua shoes and white kid gloves. They carried colonial bouquets of yellow pompons edged with lace.

Acting as best man was Bernard Beeman of Monessen. Ushers were Phillip Lopresti, Monessen; Norman Strang, Webster; and Frank Pandrock, Donora.

The mother of the bride chose a dress fashioned of ashes of roses lace and crepe with matching accessories. She wore a white orchid corsage. Mrs. Arthur Artis, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, chose a sky blue dress of crystal acetate and lace with matching accessories. Her corsage was a white orchid.

Wedding Dinner

At 2 o'clock this afternoon dinner was served at the Park Casino. The bridal table was decorated with white mums and pompons. The other tables were similarly laid. Invocation was given by Louis DeHosss, brother of the bride. The bridal toast was offered by Mr. Beeman.

There will be a reception held at the New Italian Hall for about 350 guests. Decorations at the hall include pastel bridal appointments. The many tiered wedding cake is topped with wedding rings, bells and miniature doves. Luncheon will be served by the Active Women's Club. The Harmoneers will provide music for dancing.

After the reception the newlyweds will leave for a southern wedding trip. The bride's traveling ensemble is a jet black woolen suit trimmed with mink. Her accessories are matching black, and she will wear a white orchid corsage. When they return Mr. and Mrs. Artis will reside in their newly furnished apartment at 629 Rostraver St., Monessen.

The former Miss Frye was graduated from Monessen High School and is presently employed with the Prudential Insurance Co. The bridegroom was graduated from Rostraver High School and served four years in the U. S. Navy. He is presently employed with the local plant of the Pittsburgh Steel Co.

Fall Card Party Held by Monessen Woman's Club

The Monessen Woman's Club entertained at a fall card party on Thursday evening at the Monongahela Valley Country Club. The serving of a dessert luncheon at 7:30 opened the evening's activities. Fall decorations and appointments were used.

Hamer-Gilotty Rites Here

Donna Grace Hamer and Norman Gilotty were united in marriage at St. Cajetan Roman Catholic Church this morning, Nov. 9, at 9 o'clock. The Rev. Leonard Sanesi officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Betty Hamer of Fairhope, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gilotty of Summmit Ave.

Two vases of white fall flowers decorated the church altar for the occasion. Mrs. Rose Salvino played the pre-nuptial music and during the mass.

Dale Hamer, brother of the bride, gave her in marriage. She was attired in a winter white wool sheath dress accented with crystals and rhinestones at the belt. Her accessories were white and black. The small hat was fashioned of white velvet with feather trim. She carried a white orchid atop a white Prayer Book.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Richard Gilotty, sister-in-law of the bridegroom. She wore a light blue sheath dress with rhinestone trim. Her accessories were matching blue and her flowers were yellow carnations arranged on a Prayer Book.

Best man was Richard Gilotty, brother of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Hamer wore an ensemble of royal blue with winter white accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations. Mrs. Gilotty wore a white carnation corsage with her ensemble of gray and black.

Mrs. Nettie Middleton, maternal grandmother of the bride, was present. She wore a gray ensemble with a white carnation corsage.

Wedding Breakfast

A wedding breakfast was served at Johnson's immediately after the ceremony for the two families. A wedding cake centered the bridal table.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilotty left this morning for a brief wedding trip. When they return they will live at 1221 McMahon Ave. in a newly furnished apartment.

The bride was graduated from Bellmar High School and is employed at Franklin Dairy in Fairhope. The bridegroom was graduated from Monessen High School and is employed at Combustion Engineers at Monongahela.

Basketball Season Almost Here

It's hard to believe but just three weeks from last night, the Monessen High basketballers will be taking the floor here for their first game of the 1957-58 season . . . McKeesport will be the foe as the Greyhounds open as usual with rugged opponents, meeting teams like Greensburg, Johnstown, Duquesne, Aliquippa, Uniontown and Farrell, in addition to the Tigers . . . Speaking of basketball, Hot Rod Hundley, the former West Virginia flash, is currently the "keystone" of the Minneapolis Lakers, Coach George Mikan having built the team around Hot Rod and Mikan himself . . . The All-time great cager, George, predicts that Hundley will be great.

* * *

Clyde (Jack) Rohland, the wel-known Brownsville grid arbiter, will retire after this season marking 15 years of "calling 'em" for high school games . . . Jack is considered an excellent headlinesman . . . The Steelers' Jack Butler certainly deserves that title of "thief" which is (naturally) compilmentary for his wonderful play in picking off enemy passes . . . At Baltimore Sunday Jack not only snared passes but he "stole" a field goal from Bert Rechichar with a terrific block on Bert's attempted boot from the 40 . . . Steve Garban, Penn State center from Brownsville, rates the same sort of praise from Rip Engle, the Lion mentor, wh oclaims Garban is one of the best he (Engle) has coached.

Trouble Brewing at Indiana U.?

Three Uniontown High School gridders have quit at Indiana University where they were expected to greatly assist the football team the next couple of seasons . . . Indiana has had nothing but trouble the past year and still they are the doormats of the Big Ten . . . John Meegan, promising sophomore fullback is the biggest loss for the Hoosiers as he was expected to become an outstanding player before graduating . . . Other former Red Raider players said to be coming home from IU are Center Harry Hartman and Tackle Bruce Coligan . . . Megan said he became "very homesick."

* * *

When North Union and South Union High Schools clashed the other night it was the rubber match in a 38-year old series with North Union now taking a one-game edge . . . The series stood at 15 wins each and seven ties prior to Thursday's clash . . . We've seen some excellent punting in the district this season but none has even approached the 92-yard boot by a North Dakota gridder against South Dakota earlier this season . . . The report didn't say if that meant in the air or bounce and all . . . The kicker, Jim Jarrett, is only a sophomore . . . Bellmar chalked up its first win over a Fayette County eleven beating Dunbar Friday night and has a good chance to make it two against North Union next week.

Pitt-West Virginia Even on 'Beef'

When Pitt and West Virginia face each other this afternoon there can't be many teams in the country more evenly matched in weight than the Mountaineers and Panthers . . . The Pitt line averaged out to 214, West Virginia's to 211, the backfields weighed in at 186 for WVU and 185 for the Michelosenmen while the team marks were 202 fo rthe visitors, 203 for the Blue and Gold . . . The left sides of both lines matched pound for pound from end through guards . . . By the way, after all the hue and cry about the attendanc being down, it now appears that the third largest crowd ever to see the classic will be on hand — 50,000.

Cloak-Dagger Dealings Feature NL-PCL Meet

By OSCAR FRALEY

United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UP) — Baseball, which everybody knows is "the "great American pastime" as well as a non-monopoly by Supreme Court edict, played cloak and dagger today to make certain that it retained the status quo.

A secret meeting was held Thursday at which Commissioner Ford Frick supposedly mediated the financial dispute between the National League and the invaded Pacific Coast League. Another secret meeting will be held Tuesday.

All of which makes it obvious that baseball — which thrives on free publicity 363 other days a year — doesn't want to be asked any embarrassing questions at the moment.

Prudence Dictates Silence

The reason is clear. Prudence dictates that the National League hide itself under the cloak of silence as baseball's upper echelon prepares to use the Sicilian scalpel on the Pacific Coast League.

Maybe I am overly suspicious and the big leagues really aren't going to sink the gaff armpit deep in the hapless PCL. But if I were a minor league owner I'd want my back to the wall any time I was invited into such a dark corner.

Frick and the National League, quite understandably, are dickering to make as cheap a settlement as possible with the PCL. Having walked in and lapped up the league's cream cities, Los Angeles and San Francisco, they have offered a $100,000 settlement which in this market may be classed as somewhat less than peanuts.

PCL Wants A Million

The Pacific Coast League reportedly wants one million dollars and it seems apparent that Frick, with all parties muzzled, is striving to arrive at a satisfactory middle figure which will keep the PCL from going to court. It's another step in a career which finds Frick passing out more muzzles than an Army ordnance sergeant.

Last May 10, when there was a great deal of discussion as to whether Brooklyn and New York would move west, Frick ordered the clubs not to talk about possible shifts any more on the grounds that it was "detrimental to baseball." He didn't elaborate on whether the most feared detriment was the one to the box office.

Then, when the National League prepared to meet at Chicago on May 27, it was explained that the session was "a very routine midseason meeting."

UP Revealed Move

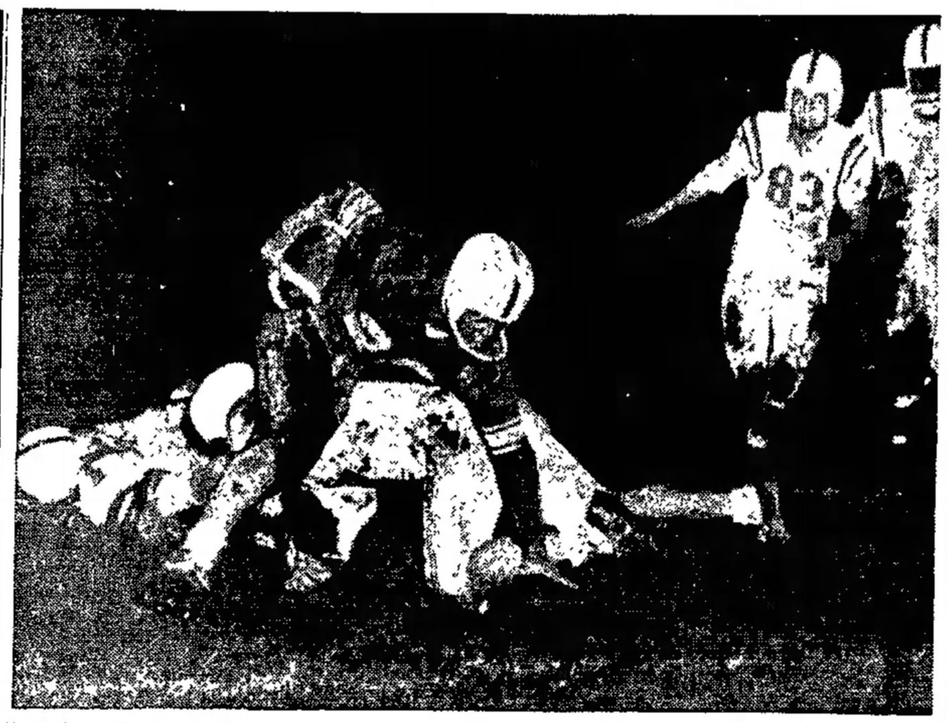
Only a United Press exclusive revealed, just before the meeting, that the New York clubs were going to be given permission to move West. Which they were, despite protestations right up to the time of the meeting that this matter wasn't even on the agenda.

All of which would tend to indicate that the "great American pastime" is acting in a sordid business manner and doesn't necessarily rate a gold star for supreme righteousness.

The top minor league heads again will attend Tuesday's secret session, the site also being a deep, dark secret so that some nosy sportswriters won't ask the minor leaguers whether they are happy with developments.

After the meeting, Frick's office will telephone the alleged news of what transpired.

But not all of it. Nor the thinkings of the PCL representatives on hand.



DANIELS IN THE 'HOUNDS DEN — Mike Daniels (20), brilliant Duquesne High back appears stopped for one of the few times such an incident occurred at the Monessen-Duquesne game last night but the Little Dukes' ace regained his feet and scampered 20 yards to set up the second touchdown for the visitors. Monessen players identifiable are Steve Burns (83) and Ed Allen (extreme right), in on the "almost" stop. The Dukes won 27-12 on a muddy field.

Big 5 Roundup—

Charleroi, Donora Post Victories But Brownsville Drops 12-0 Tilt

Charleroi clobbered Monongahela, 38-0 at Charleroi last night in the only Big Five Conference game played and thus assured themselves of a tie for the title.

In other games involving conference teams, Donora surprised Washington by a 19-0 count and Brownsville dropped a 12-0 decision to Fayette County arch-rival Uniontown.

Summaries:

Charleroi-38 Monongahela-0

Charleroi High School's Cougars assured themselves of a tie for the Mon Valley Conference crown with a 38-0 win over Monongahela at Charleroi last night with Joe Uhlman and Bob Hodgson featuring the scoring. Each tallied two touchdowns, all from up close.

Other Charleroi point-makers were Bob Daugherty and Ron Strelick. Ollie Payne booted extra points after two of the touchdowns.

The Cougars scored 19 points in each half in the easy win, the seventh straight for Charleroi over Monongahela.

A crowd of only 3,150 fans witnessed the game, a "Parent's Night" attraction.

Charleroi	6	13	6	13—38

Touchdowns: Uhlman 2, Hodgson 2, Daugherty, Strelick. Extra points. Payne 2 (placements).

Officials: Beckett, Hill, Henry, Joyce.

Dragons-19 Washington-0

Donora, Monessen High's next foe chalked up a 19-0 first half lead against Washington at Donora last night and held off all Little Prexy bids for a three touchdowns surprise victory.

Fullback Tom Urbanik traveled four yards for the initial tally, end Butler Roddy blocked a Washington punt, picked up the ball and traveled 40 yards to paydirt and Angie Dabiero, Donora halfback scampered 15 yards for the third touchdown, in the second period.

Davey Russell, Dragon quarterback, tallied an extra point for the winners.

Donora	13	6	0	0—19

Touchdowns: Urbanek, Roddy, Dabiero. Extra point: Russell.

Officials: A.L. Walsh, Pete Gallo, R. Hicks.

Uniontown-12 Brownsville-0

A game battle by Brownsville High fell short at Uniontown last night as the Red Raiders chalked up a 12-0 victory over the Brownies in their traditional game.

Approximately 5,000 fans watched as the two teams fought to a first half scoreless deadlock but Uniontown broke the ice in the third quarter when Bill Muncey of the Raiders went eight yards over tackle for a score. His run climaxed a 50 yard Uniontown drive.

The second Uniontown tally in the last quarter came on a sneak by quarterback Sanford Stephens to cap a 55-yard march.

The closest Brownsville came to paydirt was the Uniontown 15 in the first half.

Uniontown	0	0	6	6—12

Touchdowns: Munsey, Stephens.

Four Top AA Teams Stay in Title Chase

By UNITED PRESS

The four teams fighting for WPIAL Class AA top honors won their games Friday to remain in the highly contested race.

Wilkinsburg High strengthened its bid for the championship by defeating Penn High, 6-0.

The Tigers chalked up their ninth straight victory in downing Penn on a muddy field. Quarterback Leroy Loudermilk scored the game's only touchdown on an 11-yard dash on an option play.

Clairton won its ninth straight game by downing Connellsville, 25-0.

In other games, New Kensington defeated Latrobe, 14-12, and Uniontown downed Brownsville, 12-0.

In Class A competition, defending champion Braddock defeated Scott High in North Braddock, 25-6, and Rochester eliminated Beaver, 7-6. Glassport and South Union, both idle Friday, are still in the race. Glassport meets Homestead tonight.

Oakmont strengthened its bid for a Class B berth by eliminating Apollo, 36-13. Sewickley Twp., another Class B contender, walloped Shannock Valley, 51-0.

Ruth Koget Paces St. Leonards Loop

St. Theresa and St. Cecelia took wins over St. Ann and St. Elizabeth in St. Leonards action last night as Ruth Koget again paced the scorers with her 181-436 card.

Other high scorers were Mary Mazur, Mary Baker, Peg George and Mary Carrotta.

Standings — St. Theresa 23-7, St. Cecelia 16-14, St. Elizabeth 11-19, and St. Ann 13-17.

Mike Druash Sets OH Pit Loop Pace

Mike Druash was in rare form as he rolled a 226-554 card in Open Hearth Pit League bowling action as the Bakers edged the Leinbergers, the Manowns and Bergstedts posted wins this week. John Zdilla, Pete Lastoka, John Kachmarik, and Phil White.

Standings — Dallys 18-9; Bergstedts 17-10, Cutters 13-14, Manowns 13-14, Bakers 10-17 and Leinbergers 10-17.

Rose Grillo Leads MDW League Bowlers

Rose Grillo had a 159-414 to lead the Monessen Democratic Women's League bowling last night.

Other leading pin-topplers were I. Skomsky, Mary Jane D'Annibale, Geri Goimerac, Marie Foster and M. Monios.

Standings — Leopards 17-10, Tigers 15-12, Panthers 13-14 and Lions 9-18.

Bezuska Score Best In Ladies OH League

Top honors in the Ladies Open Hearth Bowling League went to M. Bezuska with a 191-426.

Close to the leader was H. Zdilla, A. Havrilak, A. DeRocco, M. Dudgeon and M. Opalinski.

Match winners were Hearts, Spades, and Diamonds.

Standings — Diamonds 18-9, Clubs 16-11, Trumps 15-12, Hearts 14-13, Spades 11-16, and Jokers 7-20.

German Defeats Redstone, 26-13

Class A German Township chalked up a 26-13 victory over Redstone High's Class AA eleven at McClellandtown last night.

Bill Rutland was the star of the game with three touchdowns, two on runs of 29 and 39 yards and one on an 18-yard pass from Quarterback Sam Sims.

German was behind 7-6 at the half but rallied for a 13-point third period and seven in the last quarter.

Lou DiSimone accounted for seven of the Blackhawk markers.

German	6	0	13	7—26
Redstone	0	7	0	6—13

Touchdowns: Rutland 3. Banner, Moscovits, L. DeSimone. Extra points: Sims 2 (runs). L. DeSimone (run).

Band Association Treats Musicians

The Monessen Band - Orchestra Parents Association last night treated both the Duquesne and Monessen High School bands and cheerleaders to cookies and hot chocolate at half time, a total of 189 students being served. The Duquesne High band leader expressed surprise and a wish that the parents of the Duquesne band would try something of the same nature at home.

Local director Julius Dalfonso said the gesture was a splended thing and contributed to the morale of the students involved and would contribute to better performances. Dalfonso also said it could not have happened on a better night.

Evancho High Man In OH Riggers

Top honors in the Open Hearth Riggers Bowling League went to L. Evancho this week with a 189 single game high and a 523 three-game mark.

Frables blanked Van Shuras and McVickers edged McShanes to put the Frables in first place.

Other top scorers were S. Salay, J. Pollock, C. Simon, Joe Koget, C. Kline, S. Beck and M. Davin.

Standings — Frables 3-0; McVickers 2-1, McShanes 1-2, and Van Shuras 0-3.

Monessen Rally Falls Short in 27-12 Loss to Duquesne Gridders

Sluggish First Half Spells Defeat For 'Hounds Before 'Moms and Dads'

Monessen High School's gridders apparently forgot there are two halves to a football game and as a result suffered a 27-12 defeat at the hands of Duquesne High School last night.

The Greyhounds appeared completely out of the game the first half as the Little Dukes chalked up a 21-0 lead. The locals came back to outscore the visitors 12-6 in the last two quarters but fell short before a Parents' Night crowd of only 1,500 fans.

Duquesne had its inital touchdown almost before the fans were settled in their seats when they went 47 yards to paydirt following a poor Monessen punt.

The 'Hound boot carried only two yards and the Dukes took over on the Monessen 47. Following a few short stabs at the line, left halfback Mike Daniels, who tallied three times during the game, swept around end 20 yards to the Monessen 23 then went over right tackle for the TD on the next play. The extra point attempt by Denny Gedman was wide.

Near the end of the first period, the John Donelli-coached visitors chalked up three straight first downs following another Monessen punt hitting the end zone for six more points on a 23 yard pass from Quarterback Walt Jones to Herm Harrison. Gedmen's boot was good for a 13-0 count.

Interception Stops Drive

Duquesne had another drive going near the end of the second quarter which Dan Barton stopped with an interception on the Monessen four-yard line. Four plays later Duquesne left end spilled Barton in the end zone for a safety to jump the score to 15-0.

Daniels streaked around right end for 45 yards two plays after the kickoff following the safety, for a 21-0 count. The extra point attempt was again wide.

A fired-up Monessen team charged out for the second half and crossed the 50 yard line for the first time in the contest. A short while later in the third period, following some nice running by Jim Lewtisky, Ken Bronson and Joe Karbowsky plus two penalties against the Dukes, the locals had the ball on the Duquesne five.

At this point Barton took to the air and found Dennis O'Toole at the goal-line red-flag marker just before the 'Hound end stepped out of bounds, and notched the first Monessen score. An attempted run for the extra point by Bronson was short.

Thrilling Run

Bronson electrified the crowd early in the fourth game with a sensational 43-yard jaunt to touchdown territory, side-stepping several Duquesne tacklers after breaking over right tackle, cutting to the outside and out-racing the Little Duke defenders. A kick for extra point by Edward Fayak was short.

Duquesne wasn't finished, however, and started a drive late in the fourth quarter which netted three straight first downs, climaxed by Daniels again going over, this time from the one. Gedman's point-after kick failed and the final 27-12 count was posted.

The Donellimen led in first downs 14-4, chalking up 324 yards to 109 for Monessen.

Main defect in the locals' armor the first half was atrocious tackling and blocking which improved in the last two quarters.

Approximately 60 parents and their sons were entertained in the Vocational School following the game by the local Parent-Teachers Association which served refreshments to the enthusiastic moms and dads.

A "big" sports event in Belle Vernon tomorrow afternoon will be a challenge bowling match between the sport-minded Belle Vernon and North Belle Vernon firemen at the NBV alleys, it was announced today.

Rostraver Cuts Season Short

It was all over for the 1957 Rostraver High School footballers today. Following a meeting of school officials yesterday, it was decided to cancel games with Glassport and North Huntingdon "for the best interests of all parties concerned", Athletic Director James Weir announced.

The Leopards thus record an abbreviated seven-game schedule, dropping all of the games played, to Ellsworth, West Newton, California, Bellmar, Scottdale, Carmichaels and Penn Joint.

Basketball coach George Everett can now concentrate on cage drills in earnest with the gridders who also play basketball now able to report at practically the normal time.

Lions Heavily Favored Over Marquette Today

MILWAUKEE (UP) — A highly favored Penn State team faced winless Marquette and frigid Milwaukee weather today in a contest at County Stadium.

The weather, and Marquette's present 100 per cent unsuccessful season, were expected to hold the crowd down below 5000. It will be the first time the schools have met on the gridiron.

A win by State coach Rip Engle will give the school its 19th consecutive season in which it has recorded more wins than losses.

Engle put the squad through a short workout in 31 degree temperatures, with the thermometer and barometer falling, after the Lions arrived in Milwaukee from University Park Friday.

Thirty four players and coaches made the trip, with quarterback Al Jacks, guard Willard Smith and halfback Bruce Gilmore left behind because of injuries.

Marquette coach Johnny Druze blamed his imperfect showing this a tough schedule and injuries

Pitt Battles West Virginia

Injuries Hamper Panthers

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Traditional rivals Pitt and West Virginia met today in a top sectional contest.

The fact neither squad has lived up to expectations this year did not dampen the spirit or lessen the desire of each team to win.

When West Virginia beats Pitt, the Southerners chalk up the season as a success, regardless of the win and loss statistics.

In series play, the Panthers have a decisive margin with 37 wins, 11 defeats and one tie.

Coach John Michelosen fielded his big Pitt team minus center Charley Brueckman, halfback Joe Scisly and guard Ed Michaels. Co-Captain Jim McCusker was scheduled to start at right tackle after being sidelined all week with a wrist injury.

For the Mountaineers, only guard Chuck Howley was out with injuries.

Pitt went into the game with a 3-4 season record, including consecutive losses to Army, Notre Dame and Syracuse.

The Mountaineers have a 4-2-1 record.

Campy's Boat for Sale

NEW YORK (UP)—Roy Campanella, veteran Brooklyn Dodger catcher and the most famous commodore in the National League, has put his 41-foot, double cabin cruiser up for sale (at about $35,000). Roy figures he won't have much use for it until someone discovers an overland water route from Connecticut to Los Angeles.

Sooners Figure To Face Anxious Moments Again

By FRANK LITSKY

For the third straight week, the University of Oklahoma football team, once considered invincible, figures to face anxious moments at the hands of a conference rival.

Oklahoma is an 18-point favorite over Missouri Saturday and the winner should have clear sailing to the Big Eight championship and the Orange Bowl. Missouri, loser only to Texas A&M, has looked surprisingly good under rookie coach Frank Broyles and might make it a lot closer than the point-spread would indicate.

For a team that has won 46 straight games, played 63 without a loss in the Big Eight and scored in 122 in a row, Oklahoma has been somewhat of a disappointment. Tt Sooners aren't getting the yardage and points like the Oklahoma teams of a few years ago and they have dropped to second place in the latest weekly ratings by the United Press Board of Coaches.

Texas Over SMU

The Texas Aggies, now No. 1, are 12-point favorites over Southern Methodist, upset winner over Texas last week.

Auburn, ranked third, is an eight-point choice over strong Mississippi State and its passing whiz, junior quarterback Billy Stacy. Auburn has the best defense of any major college in the country.

In other leading games, Michigan State is 14 points over Notre Dame in their ninth straight sellout; Navy is 6 over Duke because of a more balanced attack; Tennessee is 7 over Georgia Tech on experience alone; and Iowa is 7 over Minnesota in a battle of Big Ten bruisers.

TV Games

The picture for regionally televised games:

East: Navy-Duke at Baltimore.

South: North Carolina 1 point over visiting South Carolina.

Midwest: Ohio State 7 over visiting Purdue.

Midlands: Nebraska at Iowa State, "even money."

Southwest: Arkansas 1 point over home-standing Rice.

Far West: Oregon 12 over Washington at Portland, Ore.

Other favorites:

Intersectional: Army over Utah, Penn State over Marquette. Detroit-Villanova is "even money."

Soccer Cup Play For District 11s

Sunday's soccer activity will have all the district teams in the first round of National Open Cup competition with Van Voorhis at McNulty Post and Bethel Park at Roscoe for interleague honors and Gallatin at Avella.

Van Voorhis and McNulty Post should be evenly matched, according to their records. The Keystone League team has won three and lost the same number with the Vans having three wins, one tie and one loss. The McNulty team's offensive stars have been the Craddock brothers, Bob and Tom, with Chime Kovich and Steve Lomago pacing Van Voorhis.

Sunday's schedule:

National Open Cup

Van Voorhis at McNulty Post, (Obenour).

Bethel Park at Roscoe, (Cherokee).

Gallatin at Avella, (Brontin).

CSTC, Wash-Jeff Home; Waynesburg At WV Tech Today

California Teachers gridders and Washington and Jefferson will play their final home games of the campaign Saturday afternoon with the Prexies entertaining Oterbein of Westerville, Ohio, and the Vulcans hosting West Liberty.

Waynesburg, riding the crest of a three-game winning streak will go after victory number four against West Virginia Tech at Montgomery, W. Va.

Still plagued by injuries to key men, Wash-Jeff Coach Ed Chupa is trying to build a more potent offense as his team has been playing good defensive football but has scored only two touchdowns in five games.

CSTC, with a 1-4 record, has a chance to provide the home crowd with a second victory before ending the season at West Chester next week.

The Vulcans lone triumph was won over Clairton at California two weeks ago. Last year, CSTC upset West Liberty, 20-13.

The Yellow Jackets, enjoying the most success of the three area collegiate teams, will be trying to make up for a 20-13 setback administered last year by the Techmen. The West Virginia team is reported to be small, fast unit.

Parker, Brown Renew Personal Duel At Cleveland Tomorrow

By EARL WRIGHT

The National Football League's most successful coaches of recent years resume their personal duel Sunday when Paul Brown's Cleveland Browns entertain Buddy Parker's Pittsburgh Steelers with the Eastern Division lead at stake.

Cleveland (5-1) leads the division by one game and is a seven-point favorite. The Steelers and New York Giants (both 4-2) are tied for second.

Four New York players suffered flu attacks this week but the team is a nine-point choice to whip the Chicago Cardinals (2-4) at Yankee Stadium. If the Steelers and Giants win, they will join the Browns in a three-way tie for first place.

The San Francisco Forty-Niners (5-1) take a two-game Western Division lead into the first of four straight games and are 2½ point underdogs against the Rams (2-4) at Los Angeles.

In the other games, the Detroit Lions (3-5) are four-point choices to defeat the Eagles (2-4) at Philadelphia: the Baltimore Colts (3-3) are slim, one-point favorites against the Redskins (2-4) at Washington; and the Bears (2-4) are nine-point favorites to down the Green Bay Packers (2-4) at Chicago. Detroit and Baltimore are tied for second behind San Francisco.

Parker, who guided the Lions to three Western Division and two league titles before switching to Pittsburgh this season, is the only NFL coach who boasts an advantage in competition with Brown. Brown, who has led Cleveland to six Eastern Division and three league crowns since 1950, scored only one victory during that time against the Parker-coached Lions in 12 exhibitions, regular season and championship games.

Cleveland had to sweat for a 23-12 victory over Parker's Steelers earlier this season and Sunday's tussle figures to be a rip-snorter.

Fight Results—

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Davey Moore, 128, Springfield, Mo., outpointed Jose Cotero, 127½, Los Angeles (10).

BERLIN, Germany — Jimmy Martinez, 160, Glendale, Ariz., drew with Bubi Scholz, 161, Germany (10).

Burdette to Help Honor Hamilton

PITTSBURGH (UP) — World Series hero Lew Burdette will participate in a Saints and Sinners event Sunday, Nov 17, at the Ankara night club.

The Milwaukee Braves pitcher will fly here from Sarasota, Fla., with his wife. University of Pittsburgh Athletic Director Tom Hamilton will be the "fall" guy at the event.

2 Card of Thanks

REDAY — We wish to thank the many thoughtful friends and neighbors who extended us kindness in our recent bereavement, the death of our beloved daughter, Cynthia Lou Reday. The ministrations of the Rev. Joseph Gajdosik, floral tributes, expressions of sympathy, spiritual comfort, cars loaned for the funeral, and the aid of the pall bearers; as well as all those who assisted at the funeral will be remembered with gratitude.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Reday

3 Memorials

In loving memory of our dear mother and grandmother, Mrs. Louberia Phillips, who died one year ago, November 10, 1956.
We saw you fading like a flower
But could not make you stay.
We cared for you with tender kindness
Until God took you away.
We sit here in the evening,
Often when we are alone,
Wishing, hoping and longing
If you could only come home.
Sadly missed by daughter, Elizabeth and granddaughter, Dorothy.

In loving memory of our dear wife, mother and grandmother, Mrs. Mary Dikun, who died three years ago, November 10, 1954.
Sad and sudden was the call
Of one so dearly loved by all;
A bitter grief; a shock severe
It was to part with one so dear.
We often sit and think of you
And speak of how you died,
To think you could not say goodbye
Before you closed your eyes
For all of us you did your best.
On, God, grant you eternal rest
Sadly missed by Husband, Children and Grandchildren.

In loving memory of our dear husband, father and grandfather, George Maksa, who died nine years ago, November 10, 1948.
No one knows how much we miss you,
No one knows the bitter pain
We have suffered since we lost you.
Life has never been the same
In our hearts your memory lingers,
Sweetly tender, fond and true.
There is not a day, dear father,
That we do not think of you.
Sadly missed by Wife, Son, Daughters and Grandchildren

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE OF PARTITION SALE
IN ORPHANS' COURT

By virtue of a decree of the Orphans' Court of Westmoreland County, Pennsylvania, at No. 1 February Term 1956, notice hereby is given that H. Reginald Belden, trustee appointed by the court to make sale of the property hereinafter described, has entered into an agreement to sell the said property to Sunaria Development Co., Inc., a Pennsylvania corporation, at private sale for the sum of Thirty Thousand ($30,000) Dollars, on or before the 15th day of December, 1957. Said property is described as follows:

FIRST: All that certain tract of land situate and lying in Rostraver Township, County of Westmoreland, State of Pennsylvania, bounded and described as follows, to wit:

BEGINNING at a walnut stump on lands of John Rankin and William Flanagan; thence South 36° West 5.30 rods to a post; thence North 58° 30' West 22 rods to a post; thence North 59° 15' West 96 rods to stone; thence North 13° 30' West 38 rods to stone; thence North 56° East 54.37 rods to stone; thence South 76° 15' East 2.07 rods to stone; thence South 60° 15' East 76.89 rods to stone; thence North 1° 15' East 34.15 rods to stone; thence South 88° 15' East 9.93 rods to stone; thence South 1° 14' West 16.20 rods to post by road; thence South 25° 49' East 51.30 rods to post in road; thence South 62° 10' West 38.64 rods to post; thence South 1° 40' West 37.34 rods to walnut stump at corner, the place of beginning.

CONTAINING 63 and 70.100 Acres, reserving the Pittsburgh seam or strata of coal with such privileges as have heretofore been granted.

HAVING thereon a dwelling of seven rooms, a barn and other outbuildings. EXCEPTING AND RESERVING one acre and 10 perches of the above described tract of land conveyed by Frank G. Naylor and Eliza Naylor, his wife, by deed dated May 20, 1903 and recorded in Deed Book Vol. 366, page 333, to Robert Thompson.

ALSO EXCEPTING AND RESERVING 116 perches of the above described tract of land conveyed by Frank G. Naylor and Eliza Naylor, his wife, to John C. Rankin and Liza A. Rankin, his wife, by deed dated May 20, 1903 and recorded in Deed Book Vol. 364, page 172.

BEING the same premises conveyed to Frank G. Naylor by deed of John Flanagan, et al., dated January 31, 1903 and recorded in the office of the Recorder of Deeds in and for Westmoreland County, Pennsylvania in Deed Book Vol. 353, page 252.

SECOND: All that certain tract or piece of land situate in the Township of Rostraver, County of Westmoreland, State of Pennsylvania, being Purpart No. 1, laid out by the McCully Engineering Company of Pittsburgh for the heirs of Thomas G. Finley, and to be recorded, bounded and described as follows, to wit:

BEGINNING at a point in the center of a public road leading past the farm house of Thomas G. Finley to Webster, on the line between the said Finley farm and the farm formerly of John Rankin, Jr., and E. M. Finley, said point of beginning being distant 15 feet South 19° 43' 40" West from a stone set in said line; thence along said line North 19° 43' 40" East a distance of 625.93 feet to a post, formerly a hickory tree, and line formerly Flanagan, now Frank G. Naylor; thence along said Naylor's line North 57° 37' 40" West a distance of 574.93 feet to a stone at line of Purpart No. 2; thence along the line of Purpart No. 2 South 28° 52' West a distance of 1001.20 feet to a point in the center of said public road, said point being 15 feet beyond a stone set in the line; thence along the center of said road South 71° 08' East 362.3 feet to a point in the center of said road; thence along the center of said road South 88° 26' East 163.7 feet to a point in the center of said road; and thence still along the center of said road North 68° 01' East 270.83 feet to the place of beginning.

CONTAINING 12.912 Acres, strict measure.

THIRD: All that certain tract or piece of land situate in the Township of Rostraver, County of Westmoreland, State of Pennsylvania, being Purpart No. 3, laid out by the McCully Engineering Company of Pittsburgh for the heirs of Thomas G. Finley, and to be recorded, bounded and described as follows, to wit:

BEGINNING at a point in the center of said public road near the Fort Hill Gate, which point is distant 20 feet South 18° 13' West from a stone set in the line; thence passing over said stone North 18° 13' East a distance of 941.35 feet to a stone in the line of Frank G. Naylor, near mulberry tree; thence along the line of said Naylor North 57° 37' 40" West 48.8 feet to a post; thence still along the line of said Naylor North 12° 00' 40" West 575.55 feet to a stone 26 feet beyond a white oak, said stone being at line of Samuel Finley; thence along the line of Samuel Finley South 34° 58' West 1138.91 feet to a point in the center of said public road; thence along the center of said road South 34° 27' East 252.47 feet to a point in the center of said road, thence still along the center of said road South 50° 04' East 477.40 feet to a point in the center of said road; thence still along the center of said road South 16° 42' East 36.85 feet to the place of beginning.

CONTAINING 13.326 Acres, strict measure.

EXCEPTING AND RESERVING thereout and therefrom all the six foot or river vein of coal commonly called the Pittsburgh vein, with the mining rights and privileges as the same were conveyed by Thomas G. Finley and wife to J. M. Guffey, by deed dated July 20, 1892 and recorded in Deed Book Vol. 210, page 419. Subject, however, to a lease for oil and gas made by said Thomas G. Finley dated September 22, 1897.

Tracts SECOND and THIRD above described being the same premises conveyed to Frank G. Naylor by deed of Joseph Finley and George T. Finley, Executors of the Last Will and Testament of Thomas G. Finley, deceased, et al., dated February 12, 1916 and recorded in the office of the Recorder of Deeds in and for Westmoreland County, Pennsylvania, in Deed Book Vol. 582, page 16.

All of the above tracts of land were the property of Frank G. Naylor, deceased, who died on the 8th day of December, 1926.

The sale of the said property will be subject to final confirmation by the Orphans' Court of Westmoreland County, Pennsylvania, on Tuesday, November 26, 1957 at 10:00 A. M.

Last minute arrangements are being made for the annual Harvest Moon Festival of the Woman's Society for Christian Service of the Fayette City Methodist Church, to be held Wednesday in the auditorium and annex to the Community Center.

Committees will be meeting each Monday and Tuesday to plan for their displays of doll clothes, handwork, candy, novelties and baked goods.

A lunch counter will be set up and a menu has been selected by the lunch committee; chairman Mrs. Clarence Young, Mrs. James Moody, Mrs. Willard Auther, Mrs. Samuel Miller, Mrs. Jacob Zubovic, Mrs. Roy Mossburg, Mrs. William Hicks, and Mrs. William Grant.

Handwork will feature an apron bar, home made quilts and items suitable for Christmas gifts. The committee, in charge of Mrs. Christian Dreyer, will include Mary Belle Opfar, Mrs. Brightwell, Mrs. Samuel Hamer, Mrs. Frank Devers, Mrs. Jane Johnson, Mrs. Fred Weightman and Mrs. Oliver Cope.

Mrs. George Roy is chairman of the candy booth. Her committee includes, Mrs. Jasper Hare, Mrs. Charles Humphries, Mrs. Walter Ridgway, Mrs. Richard Evans, and Mrs. Howard Opfar.

The Baked Goods committee will consist of chairman Mrs. Sadie Paegart, Mrs. John Bake, Mrs. William Parry, Mrs. Wilbur Evans, Mrs. N. Jones, Mrs. Samuel Greenlee, Mrs. Vance Bamford, Mrs. Roy Jamison, Mrs. Louis Roy and Mrs. Charles Evans.

The novelties committee will be Mrs. Irwin Abbott, chairman, Mrs. James Welch, Mrs. Fred Stockton, Mrs. Lily Roy, Mrs. Wellington Baldwin and Mrs. Charles Hough.

The affair will begin at 7 p.m. A program and cooking demonstration will start at 7:45. There is no admission charge to the activity. The general co-chairmen are Mrs. Clarence Young and Mrs. Read Brightwell.

To Hold Service Here on Monday

The American Legion and the Auxiliary of the Brightwell-Daugherty Post will combine efforts to present a memorial service on Veteran's Day at the Fayette City Honor Roll.

On Monday at 10:45 a.m., the members of both organizations and the people of the Community are invited to attend the service which will be opened with prayer by the American Legion Chaplain Harold Keenan.

Mrs. Joseph Williams, president of the Auxiliary, will make a brief memorial talk.

The wreath, in memory of the war dead, will be placed on the Honor Roll by William Gardner, Post Commander, just before the sounding of taps at 11 a.m. The taps and echo will be played by James Eley and Ronald Devers.

The Rev. John Bowers will give the address of the morning. Special music will be provided by the Fayette City Christian Church. The closing prayer will be given by the Auxiliary Chaplain, Mrs. George Roy.

The program was arranged by Mrs. Fred Stockton.

Elastic Stockings Popular

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

Years ago elastic stockings proved their value in preventing and relieving painful varicose veins.

They are a very practical article of clothing for persons with unsightly varicose veins, for pregnant women and for hard-working housewives and retail salesgirls who will find them useful for easing tired, aching legs.

If they are properly made and fitted, elastic stockings help relieve the pain of surface varicose veins and at the same time help speed the flow of blood through the veins In this way, they do quite a bit toward preventing the condition from becoming more serious.

As for preventing development of varicose veins in cases of pregnancy and leg strain from standing too long, they offer comfortable support which eliminates undue and painful stretching of the veins. Such stretching frequently results in varicosities

But for years many women who needed to wear elastic stockings refused to do so outside the privacy of their own home The heavy cotton hose were rather unattractive, even when other stockings were worn over them

We have long been noted as a nation of progress, however, and there's been quite a bit of progress in elastic stocking designs, too.

You can still buy the heavy cotton hose for everyday use around the house for somewhere between $3 and $4 a pair But you can also get fashionable regular weight nylon elastic stockings with stretchy toes and heels) for outdoor use and casual wear. These retail for about $12 a pair.

However, the manufacturers of elastic hose, well aware of woman's vanity, haven't stopped there Now they have come up with a 51-gauge, ultra-sheer lightweight nylon elastic stocking which can be worn for parties, the theater, dancing and dining out

True, they're pretty expensive, about $17 a pair, but they reportedly last a lot longer than a pair of regular nylons

All of which goes to show you can now get medical help with style.

World of TV—

Steve Allen to Do Show from Havana

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UP) — The channel swim . . .

Plans are just about set to beam an entire Steve Allen show from Havana, Cuba, early next year In color, yet. Incidentally, Mrs Allen (Jayne Meadows) will call the baby Barbara if it's a girl, Christopher if it's a boy — it's expected to arrive within a week

Nan Fabray and CBS - TV are huddling on a new series that would be based on the book, "Guestward Ho" "Seven Lively Arts" has coaxed Ernie Kovacs into one of its capers—sometime after the first of the year.

"Dick and Duchess" has had it at CBS-TV . The illness of Herbert Marshall's wife, has forced him to pull out of the "Beyond This Place" spec set for Nov. 25 on CBS - TV — Hurd Hatfield will pinch-hit

The shift of "Harbormaster" from CBS-TV to the Sunday night schedule at ABC-TV in January will pit two Sullivans against NBC-TV's Steve Allen — Ed and Barry. . CBS - TV is trying to coax Jackie Gleason back to the wars with a one-shot dramatic script called "Banquet For A Failure"

Evelyn Rudie who once played "Eloise" on TV may return next season in a new series, "Cindy" . It looks as if the Tab Rock Rip, Race fancy-name cycle may be drawing to a close—Robert Q Lewis recently auditioned a new singer named "Bare Feet"

With casualty time at hand, the networks are unmothballing all sorts of filmed replacements to take the place of shows expected to be buried around January CBS-TV is hot for "Collector's Item" with Vincent Price, "Magnificent Montague" with Cedric Hardwicke and "Richard Diamond, Private Detective," a show on this past summer NBC-TV is readying "Panic," "Pony Express" and "Blue Angels"

Shelley In Series

Shelley Winters and Music Corporation of America are hatching plans for a new TV series Paul Ford, the colonel on the Phil Silvers show, has been signed on the CBS-TV Dec 20 spec, "Junior Miss," along with Jeannie Carson.

ABC-TV's "Do You Trust Your Wife" has dropped its director, Al Burton, and replaced him with David Lowe... Phil Silvers will build an entire Sgt Bilko episode around Kay Kendall

From Broadway—

Few Good Shows Are Available

By FRED DANIG

NEW YORK (UP)—A lacklustre theatrical season is breaking up Broadway's box office traffic jam.

Last year, shows had to wait on the road or delay production because all available Broadway theaters were taken.

This year, the number of flops and near-flops has taken care of the theater shortage. A United Press tally shows that of the 32 legitimate theaters along Broadway, nine are dark and awaiting tenants. This is one gauge of the new season's quality, for it's axiomatic that a rousing theatrical season leads to a shortage of theaters

There have been 18 openings so far this season and eight of the newcomers already have closed or posted closing notices Of the 10 survivors, only three are doing capacity business: "West Side Story," "Look Back In Anger" and "Jamaica"

Carryovers Are Jammed

The other "standing room only" hits are carryovers such as "Auntie Mame" (47 weeks old); "Bells Are Ringing" (49 weeks); "New Girl In Town" (25 weeks) and of course, "My Fair Lady" (86 weeks).

It's noteworthy that none of the new "S.R.O." hits can qualify as a "smash" "Look Back In Anger," a serious play by British playwright John Osborne, found five local critics in its corner while two dissented. "West Side Story" found the critics unanimously in favor, but somewhat restrained in their enthusiasm. "Jamaica", which opened last week and stars Lena Horne, found the critics impressed with Miss Horne and the music but little else.

Waiting to reach Broadway are 23 other shows, seven of which have not yet booked theaters. But there's no panic. The feeling is that when they arrive, in January or February for the most part there will be room

Richard Maney, the celebrated Broadway booster, believes the new season is dreary because our established playwrights aren't writing.

The Writer Is It

"It all begins with the writer," he said "When he doesn't write anything nobody works" Maney pointed out that our top playwrights, Tennessee Williams, Arthur Miller and Lillian Hellman, do not have incoming plays this season.

William Inge ("Picnic" and "Bus Stop") has a play arriving Dec 12 And Carson McCullers "Member Of The Wedding" saw her "Square Root of Wonderful" open last week to poor reviews

In order to become a hit, a Broadway show must make money. More and more, they have greater amounts to make up. "West Side Story" cost about $225,000 to bring in. The show is able to net about $15,000 a week when the theater is grossing a capacity $60,400. It may make more money after Dec. 23, when the top price for a ticket is hiked from $7 50 to $8.05.

"Jamaica" cost around $275,000 to make Broadway. This one is scaled to break even at a gross of $36,000 While doing a capacity $63 000, "Jamaica" will get about $14,500 weekly.

COMBINATION DOORS — Combination doors installed side by side enclose N. F. Schumaker's porch in Maplewood, N. J. The doors serve as walls for the porch with screens in place in summer and glass "windows" in winter. It makes the porch liveable all-year round.

How to Make Porch Available All Year

Enclosing a porch for year-around living usually is a job for a competent carpenter. But a new idea — doing the entire enclosure with combination storm and screen doors — brings the major home improvement project within the skills of the average home handyman.

Installed side by side around the perimeter of the porch, the combination doors of ponderosa pine serve as prefabricated wall units, complete with "windows" for winter which can beremoved and replaced with screen inserts for summer.

The finished product is a comfortable sunroom which can be used on all but the coldest days of winter, and breezy screened porch ideal for summer relaxing, dining, and sleeping.

Home-Owner Does It

One home-owner who enclosed his porch with the combination doors is N. F. Schumaker, of Maplewood, N.J., who says he's no more skilled with tools than the average home handyman.

Schumaker obtained 12 stock doors of ponderosa pine from his neighborhood building materials dealer. He chose doors three feet wide by 85 inches tall for his 10-by 20-foot porch.

Working in his spare time, Schumaker fitted the the doors together with 1 by 2-inch strips of lumber covering the vertical joints on the outside. The doors were nailed at the top to an existing beam, and toe-nailed at floor level with molding inside.

Eleven of Schumaker's doors were used for the new "walls," while the 12th door was hinged to provide a direct entrance to the porch from the back yard.

Schumaker chose combination doors of ponderosa pine because the wood is easy to work with, has been chemically treated to resist weather, and could be painted on the outside to match the exterior of the house, and stained inside for soft, natural wood tones.

After the doors were in place, Schumaker put down a new floor, and finished the wall common to the house with knotty pine plywood. Striated plywood squares were used for a new ceiling.

As an added touch, knotty pine was used to cover the solid portion of the doors at top and bottom. The lower panel, about two feet high, was capped with a 1 by 4-inch ledge as a shelf for plants and knick-knacks.

Basic Reasons For Improvements In the Homes

Serious outbreaks of waterborne diseases have practically been eliminated by public control over the installation of plumbing systems.

Fifty years ago, 23,000 persons died annually from typhoid fever and thousands more from various types of dysenteries. Today, typhoid has been practically wiped out, except in isolated fringe areas where sanitation is still primitive and not subject to public control.

Improvement in public health and sanitation is a reflection of the continuing effort of such organizations as the 75-year-old National Association of Plumbing Contractors in promoting higher standards of plumbing installation and inspection.

The plumbing system, the NAPC suggests, should be thought of as the common denominator — the connecting link between all homes and public buildings in a community. From this it can readily be seen that a single faulty installation can endanger the health of all by permitting contamination of the water supply.

Progressive communities guard against this hazard by blueprinting the essentials of safe plumbing installation in the form of a code. But they do not stop there. They go further requiring that plumbing be installed only under the supervision of licensed plumbing contractors whose employees are trained and qualified workmen who are experienced in the techniques of making safe connections with the water supply and waste system.

As a final measure of control, all work has to be inspected and approved to make certain it complies with code requirements.

Hydronics Is Term For Heating, Cooling

Hydronics is the new term adopted to describe the science of heating and cooling with water, says the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau. The name is designed to cover not only the use of water for heating and cooling, but also the many other functions of circulated water systems such as providing hot faucet water, snow melting on walks and driveways, and zone temperature control.

Homes Are The Best Investment

Homes are the nation's best and most useful investment for a family, a national authority on home construction reports.

The reliable West Coast Lumbermen's Association says a home-owner can generally get his investment back when selling a home, after having it nearly rent free for the time he has lived in the home. In many cases, owners have sold in excess of purchase price.

This observation followed announcement of the U. S. Census Bureau that home ownership was on the increase, up from 44 per cent of family spending units in 1949, to 54 per cent in 1957. Homes owned by occupants increased from 20 to 28 million in the same period.

Most consumer goods, the lumbermen point out, depreciate in value, but not homes. This is especially true of automobiles which may lose two-thirds of their purchase price in two or three years.

What do you look for in a home? Homes with the best resale value, the lumber association points out, are built of wood. They are framed in a sturdy long-lasting wood such as Douglas fir, and are sided in attractive lumber of many patterns in either fir, west coast hemlock or western red cedar. Inside the home, nine out of ten U. S. housewives ask for wood paneled walls, cabinets and built-ins.

Placement of Boiler New Trend in Homes

One of the new trends in the heating industry is locating the heating equipment, that is, the boiler away from the "living space" of the house and placing it in the garage or special annex built for this purpose.

When chilled water cooling is teamed up with hot water for heating, the water chiller, too, may be installed in the garage alongside the boiler.

With warm water in winter and chilled water in summer both propelled by a small but powerful electric pump, positive circulation of the medium for either heating or cooling is assured, irrespective of the distance between the boiler-chiller and the living area of the house.

Hot water heating and chilled water cooling are so flexible, that the homeowner has a wide latitude of choice as to where he will have the boiler-chiller located.

The system will function equally well if the source for heat or cold is located in the basement, in a utility room, in the kitchen, in the attic, or in the garage, says the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau.

How to Cut Heating Costs

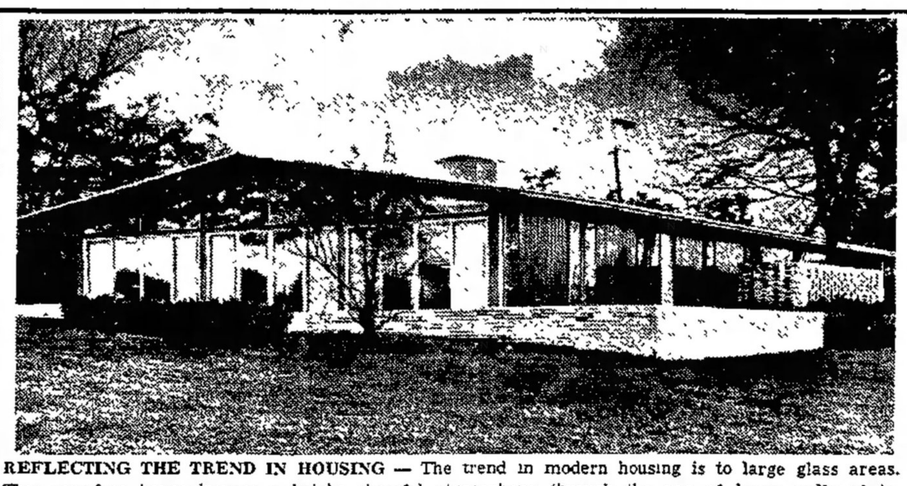
Heating engineers estimate that proper weather stripping, storm windows, doors, and good installation can reduce heating costs one-third to one-half. And, they also note that a house with a good number of "cold air leaks" can negate the best heating system and insulation.

So, before beginning full-scale operation of the heating plant in your home this winter, take time out to make a thorough check of your home as well as your heating system.

According to an article in the current issue of The American HOME Magazine there are six main points to look for:

1. Close the vents in foundation walls 3-4 of the way at the start of the heating season.
2. Close the damper of the fireplace when it's not in use.
3. Keep closets and cabinets closed. There's little point in heating those areas.
4. All windows and doors should be closed.
5. Check insulation of all piping when it passes through unheated areas.
6. Learn to use your thermostat correctly. A poorly placed thermostat can be a major contributor to the erratic operation of an otherwise good heating system.

The early correction of these faults and the adjustment of mechanical parts of the heating system itself by a heating contractor should go a long way towards winter comfort and lower fuel bills.



REFLECTING THE TREND IN HOUSING — The trend in modern housing is to large glass areas. This care-free house insures a bright cheerful atmosphere through the use of large walls of insulating glass. Planned by Alcoa to show how wood, glass, steel, brick and aluminum can combine to give a house requiring a minimum of upkeep, this modern home has 50 units of Thermopane insulating glass in the walls.

Laboratory to Check Testing Of Radiation

A laboratory to provide facilities for the unbiased check testing of ratings of all radiation bearing the I-B-R emblem was recently dedicated at the University of Illinois.

The laboratory is financed by The Institute of Boiler and Radiator Manufacturers which also sponsors a research program in hot water heating and chilled water cooling at the University of Illinois.

The work of the laboratory will be of value to every homeowner who uses hot water heating and or chilled water cooling, the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau points out.

The unbiased ratings of all types of radiation provided by the laboratory will assure householders that the equipment they purchase, provided it carries the I-B-R emblem, will measure up to the claims of the manufacturer.

Any manufacturer of baseboards, convectors, or finned tube radiation may rate his products in accordance with I-B-R testing and rating codes, whether a member of I-B-R or not.

Special Clinic At Charleroi Supply Co.

Charleroi Supply Co. will hold a special Weldwood Home-Improvement Clinic Nov. 12, 7:30 p. m., in their Monessen showroom, to show home owners how to do the best possible remodeling and construction for the least possible cost.

According to Harry Roberts, manager, the meeting will emphasize converting waste space into added living area for a growing family.

A step-by-step explanation of room layout and construction will start the Clinic, followed by a demonstration of materials, tools, and techniques.

Most important, according to Roberts "The Clinic will prove that proper pre-planning and accurate knowledge of construction materials will save hundreds of dollars on any major job. . . whether the home owner does his own work, or has it done by others."

Roberts also emphasized the Nov. 12th Weldwood Home-Improvement Clinic in the showroom as another instance of Charleroi Supply Co.'s continuing interest in helping the home owner to do a better job at lowest possible cost.

Gas-fired Boilers to Pick Up in Future

With sales of most building materials showing a decline in 1957 as compared with 1956, there is one bright spot in the future.

This is the gas-fired boiler business, says the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau, in calling attention to the fact that factory sales of gas-fired boilers during the first eight months of this year showed a gain of 8 1 per cent over the same period last year.

During the same period factory sales of gas-fired warm air furnaces declined 16 4 per cent, as shown by reports compiled by the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association.

Shipments of gas-fired boilers in August were 12,900, up 16 2 per cent from the same month a year ago.

Encouraged by the good showing made by their industry so far this year, manufacturers of gas-fired boilers anticipate total sales of around 90,000 gas-fired boilers in 1957 and total sales of 98,000 in 1958. Some individual manufacturers are even more optimistic and predict total sales for the industry of around 103,000 gas-fired boilers in 1958 or a gain of 11 per cent over 1957.

Compactness, attractive styling, and high combusion efficiency are among the features of gas-fired boilers that are helping to point the sales curve upward.

Many manufacturers are offering package boilers which include the burner, controls, circulator pump, and all the necessary wiring and piping connections.

Panel Heating Increase Shown

The many desirable characteristics of panel heating have been disclosed by research work in the College of Engineering of the University of Illinois sponsored by The Institute of Boiler and Radiator Manufacturers. Panels automatically adjust the heat output rate around the outside walls, it was found. Ceiling panels have a higher fuel consumption than floor panels.

Boilers on Increase

In 1956 when housing starts declined 15 7 per cent compared with 1955, sales of heating boilers showed an increase. More low pressure residential heating boilers were shipped in 1956 than in any year since the late 1920's.

Two Elements Are Needed for Heating Systems

Two elements are essential for the efficient operation of every heating system. These are quality materials and expert installation.

One is as important as the other in assuring the owner of trouble-free performance, fuel economy, safety, and dependability.

It is because no one manufacturer makes everything required for a complete heating installation that the function of the heating contractor is particularly important.

It is the responsibility of the heating contractor to design and install the system so that all component parts will produce the results desired. It is the skill and experience of the heating contractor which welds the various products and materials into a smoothly operating system, says the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau.

Usually heating equipment is purchased on a lifetime basis. It is for this reason that the Bureau advises buyers of heating equipment to select their contractor on the basis of his reputation; not his price.

Being neutral as far as different makes of boilers, controls, distributors, pipe and tube, accessories, and other essential products are concerned the heating and piping contractor is in a position to give impartial advice on the choice of the right equipment to meet specific conditions.

These are some of the reasons, the Bureau points out, why the function of the mechanical contractor is of paramount importance in creating a good heating system, tailored to fit the house, the family, and the climate.
